Urrutia Regime in Cuba Seeks Better Foreign Relations

Most Difficult Period May Be Over for His Government

BY ROBERT BERRELEZ
Havana —(U)— Cuba's revolutionary government after a hectic 3-week organizing period is turning its attention to the outside world.

A good deal is certain to be heard from Provisional President Manuel Urrutia and his cabinet ministers on Cuba's economic and political role in international affairs.

Urrutia's regime has been overshadowed — although not intentionally so — by revolutionary chief Fidel Castro and his war crimes trials of former dictator Fulgencio Batista's lieutenants.

Speed Essential
Castro's current visit to Caracas may have coincided with the end of the new government's most difficult period.

Urrutia has had to find qualified personnel to fill civil posts vacated by the mass cleanup of Batista supporters. He has had to act quickly to meet such urgent problems as getting the vital sugar harvest underway and repairing war-damaged highways, railways and communications.

A harassing factor has been foreign criticism of the speedy military conviction and execution of so-called war criminals and the carnival atmosphere in which the public trials opened in Havana last week.

The second Havana trial was scheduled to start this afternoon, but reliable sources said it would be held at Camp Columbia, the army headquarters outside the city, and not as originally planned in the 17,000-seat Sports palace.

The next defendant is a Batista army captain, Pedro Morejon, 38, accused of assassination, homicide, and robbery.

Couple Sought in New York Stabbing

New York —(U)— The assistant manager of a popular Broadway jazz spot was slain early today in a brief scuffle at one of the night club's bars. Police spread a 15-state alarm for a man and woman who left the place moments later.

The victim was Zachariah Levy, 36, of Valley Stream, N. Y. Police said that he was killed by a stab wound in the chest.

The couple sought were a 5-foot-10 heavy-set man of about 45 with blue eyes, sandy hair, clad in a brown suit; and a dark complexioned short woman of about 30 who was wearing a dark, low-cut dress and black evening coat.

Elderly Couple Dies From Car Crash Injuries

Headon Collision Near Clintonville Injures Four Others

An elderly rural Clintonville couple died of injuries suffered in a headon crash on Highway 45 Saturday. Four others were injured.

Carl Borchardt, 70, route 2, Clintonville, died at 11:50 a.m. Saturday and his wife, Frieda, 66, died at 12:19 a.m. Sunday. They were injured when the car Borchardt was driving collided with a car driven by David Graebel, 29, 511 Kent street, Wausau, 5 1/2 miles south of Clintonville about 9:15 a.m. Saturday.

Raised Traffic Toll
Their deaths brought the 1959 Waupaca county traffic toll to three. The state toll was raised to 51 during the weekend, compared with 43 on this day a year ago.

State Traffic Patrolman Dale Perry said Mrs. Borchardt was thrown through the windshield. The Eberhardt and Hoh and the Heuer and Sievers ambulances took Mr. and Mrs. Borchardt, Graebel, his wife and two children to Clintonville Community hospital.

Graebel suffered chest injuries and his daughter, Jessica, 6 1/2, suffered facial cuts and had several teeth knocked out.

Atomic Energy Experts Planning Radiation Shield

Ivoryton, Conn. —(U)— Twenty-eight top atomic energy experts met here recently to work on the problem of shielding the public from nuclear radiation.

The New Haven Register, reporting the previously unpublicized meeting today, said the group formed an organization known as the Guild for Shielding Radiation.

The meeting was a fact-sharing conference by men representing all government and industry segments of the nuclear field.

"What we are creating is an advanced university of learning in the field of nuclear shielding," the Register quoted Alfred Knapp, president of Knapp Mills, Inc., of New York City.

Knapp, an atomic consultant and manufacturer, said such a program is needed because of the increasing growth of atomic power in industrial and military spheres.

"While shielding technologies of the present have been adequate," he said, "it is easy to see that the increasing complexity of the field will demand more effort and coordination in the future."

He said the group would tackle immediately radiation shielding in the transportation of radioactive materials, in the movement of nuclear ships and submarines and in space rockets and satellites.

Eastern Orthodox Church Return Chief Objective Of Ecumenical Assembly

BY STAN CARTER

Vatican City —(U)— Pope John XXIII will convocate a great assembly — the 21st ecumenical council in the 2,000-year history of the Roman Catholic church — to seek unity of the Christian forces of the world.

Return to the fold of the Eastern Orthodox church's 120 million members was seen as a prime object of the convocation. But there are great obstacles to any formal reunification, particularly the Roman Catholic dogma that the pope is supreme and infallible in matters of faith and morals.

Reaffirmation of the church's stand against communism may be another major subject of the ecumenical council, the first since 1870. Pope John already has expressed grave concern with the plight of Catholics in communist lands and particularly in communist China, where the red regime has been trying to foster a national Catholic church that denies allegiance to Rome.

The council will bring together Roman Catholic cardinals, archbishops and bishops from all over the world in what may well be the most immense gathering of its kind in Christian history. More than 2,500 are eligible to attend.

No Date Set
Representatives of other Christian communities, in addition to Roman Catholics, are likely to be invited to attend. The 77-year-old pontiff announced his intention to convene the council yesterday after a mass in honor of the conversion of St. Paul, the Roman Jew and persecutor of Christians who was struck to the ground on his way to Damascus.

The pope did not announce the date for the beginning of the council. Because of the gathering's great size and possibly long duration, the preparation may take many months. The meeting does not have to be held at the Vatican or in Rome, but other sites seem unlikely.

Ecumenical means worldwide, representing the whole church. The 20 previous ecumenical councils were called to deal with major problems facing the church, such as heresy and schism, to resolve questions of faith or to establish dogma.

Invitation to Unity
The Vatican announcement said:

"Regarding the celebration of the ecumenical council, this, in the thought of the holy father looks not only to the edification of the Christian peoples, but is intended as an invitation to the separate (Christian) communities to seek unity which so many desire in all parts of the world."

This was seen as an invitation for a return to the fold of the churches which have broken away from Rome, primarily the Eastern Orthodox.

Unlike the Protestants, the Eastern church parted from Rome 905 years ago in a dispute over matters of discipline. The Vatican considers the Eastern Orthodox schismatics but still Catholics, retaining the apostolic tradition and the regular administration of the sacraments.

The majority of the Eastern Orthodox practitioners live in

Asks Statehood For Hawaiians

Interior Secretary First Witness at House Hearing

Washington —(U)— Sec. of the Interior Fred A. Seaton told congress today "we need Hawaii as an equal partner as much as Hawaii needs statehood."

Seaton was the first witness as the house insular affairs committee opened hearings in a new congressional drive to make Hawaii the 50th state.

He said the Eisenhower administration favors immediate passage of statehood legislation but recognizes that congress must set its own schedule.

"The grant of statehood to Hawaii will prove to the world — and particularly to Asia — that we practice what we preach," Seaton said.

"I say we need the participation of Hawaiians in our counsels, and their advice and experience in dealing with the peoples of the Orient."

Against Communism
The secretary pointed out that Hawaii is the only incorporated territory now, and its 50-year apprenticeship in territorial status is longer than was required of any of the present states.

Long before annexation in 1898, he continued, Hawaiians were thoroughly imbued with American ideals and American culture and the Americanization has continued at a rapid pace since incorporation.

Rejecting arguments that Hawaii is susceptible to control by communists, Seaton said:

"The fact is that the people of Hawaii, time after time, have utterly rejected the communist philosophy and every attempt of communists to influence their government."

"The people of Hawaii wrote into their proposed state constitution a far-reaching prohibition against any communist holding public office or public employment of any kind."

8 Missing After Italian Ship Sinks

Taranto, Italy —(U)— The 440-ton Italian freighter Laura Gabriella sank today in heavy seas between the south Italian port and the Greek island of Paxos. Eight of its crew are missing.

The vessel, which operated between Italy and other Mediterranean countries, carried a crew of 16. The French tanker Roussillo reported picking up 8 crewmen.

Shoots Dad in Quarrel Over Removing Snow

Delath —(U)— A 15-year-old boy shot and fatally wounded his father from an upstairs window of their home last night after an argument over cleaning snow from a driveway.

Detective Inspector Russell Barber said the boy, Reynold Peterson, admitted the shooting.

Carl Peterson, 44, a steel plant worker, was sweeping snow from the family driveway when he was shot. He died early today while undergoing emergency surgery.

Barber said the boy hit his father with three shots from a .370 caliber rifle fired from a bedroom window. Peterson was hit in the ankle, the side and the abdomen.

The boy was held without charge.

Floods Recede After Causing Heavy Loss

Over 22,000 Families Affected in 5 States

By The Associated Press

Floods still menaced some areas in five eastern and central states today but waters from swollen rivers and streams were receding in most sections. The worst of the mid-winter flooding appeared temporarily ended.

The chief problem for the thousands hit by last week's devastating floods in Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, West Virginia and Indiana was the huge cleanup job. The Red Cross has estimated more than 22,000 families were affected by the floods, with thousands forced temporarily from their homes.

Cold air, with snow or rain, spread from the central plains across the northern half of the country, adding to the inconvenience of flood victims.

Crest Late Tonight

In Ohio, one of the states hardest hit by overflows, the Ohio river was the last of the state's waterways threatening further flooding. At Cincinnati the big river edged up to 55 feet, 3 feet above flood stage. The weather bureau predicted an expected 57-foot crest will be reached near midnight tonight. However, only minor damage was expected unless fresh rains should hike it above the 60-foot mark.

Floods in Ohio caused an estimated damage of $100 million in 76 of Ohio's 88 counties. In western Pennsylvania, the cleanup job was in progress, many roads were reopened and public transportation was returning slowly to normal. Schools and industries also planned to resume operations as soon as possible.

At Meadville, Pa., the ice-choked French creek returned slowly to its banks and some of the 2,000 persons evacuated moved back into their homes. Efforts continued by demolition experts to blast openings

Says Russia Uneasy Over E. Germans

Detroit —(U)— Deputy Under Sec. of State Robert Murphy said today Russia's uneasiness over conditions in Soviet-ruled East Germany account partly for the Kremlin's readiness to talk over the German problem.

"The U. S. S. R. has failed utterly to win over the East German population," he said, "and Moscow leadership is concerned lest a wave of public and international sentiment should reunite the people."

Murphy reviewed German policy in an address before the Economic club of Detroit.

He also cautioned business leaders against believing that the visit of deputy Soviet Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan would suddenly open the way to large scale Russian-American trade.

Some increase in Soviet purchases of equipment is possible, in such fields as chemicals, construction, mining machinery and tire manufactures — if such items are not on the government restricted list.

But Murphy said no significant Soviet buying of American consumer goods is likely. Further, he said, a big permanent increase in Soviet-American trade is unlikely because Russia has a limited amount of dollars to pay.

Stevenson Blames People for Faults Of Education in U. S.

San Francisco —(U)— Adlai Stevenson charged today that the American people themselves must shoulder the blame for the ills of public education in this country.

"If the community wants driver education or bachelor cooking instead of Latin and mathematics, it will get it," he told the annual convention of the National School Boards association. "And if the colleges give scholarships to boys with coordinated bodies rather than with coordinated minds, what will a student value?"

The titular head of the Democratic party reminded the school board members from across the nation that "students and their families are reluctant to borrow for education. They will buy TVs, autos, washing machines, even travel, on time and credit, but not education for their children."

He said "improvement is imperative." Despite "the accumulation of so many commissions, the issue of so many papers, and the poverty of so many school districts,"

Youths Riot in Belgian Congo

Outbreak Follows Refusal to Admit Africans to Meeting

Brussels —(U)— Several hundred African youths, denied admission to a government-sponsored political meeting yesterday, rioted in the Belgian Congo city of Matadi.

A Belgian police officer and some Africans were injured before order was restored. The courthouse and other government buildings were looted and a Catholic mission was damaged.

No arrests were reported. Belgian authorities had called the meeting to explain the Brussels government's long-term plan for local elections and eventual independence for the big central African colony.

The Belga news agency reported about 200 African youths, when refused entrance, had started throwing rocks at European cars, official buildings and church missions.

The main street was cleared of demonstrators when an injured Belgian policeman fired a submachinegun into the air. African troops then restored order and built barricades between the European district and the native section.

A 6:30 p.m. to 4:30 a.m. curfew was imposed in the native section, and all bars were closed. A European vigilante corps was set up to protect a European residential district on the outskirts of the city.

Matadi is a city of 25,000 about 100 miles inland from the Atlantic. It is the chief transshipment point for Leopoldville, the Congo's capital and chief city.

Baghdad Pact Gets Full U.S. Support

Country Joins Britain, Pakistan, Iran, Turkey in Pledging to Maintain, Strengthen Agreement

Karachi, Pakistan.—The United States, Pakistan, Britain, Iran and Turkey pledged today to maintain and strengthen the Baghdad pact despite the apparent defection of Iraq.

The pledges were made at the opening of the pact's semiannual ministerial council meeting in Karachi.

Iraq is still a member of the pact formed four years ago as a defensive alliance against communist aggression, but the revolutionary forces which overthrew King Faisal's pro-western regime last July have boycotted the alliance.

President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan told the opening session that the organization could continue to be a powerful alliance despite Iraq's absence.

Strategic Area

"The regional members of the pact still represent a large strategic area of land contiguous from Turkey to Pakistan, containing some of the finest manpower in Asia and the disposition of valuable resources," he said.

In a message to the council President Eisenhower said he had followed the progress of the organization with deep personal interest since its inception.

"The United States," the president said, "believes the instrumentalities which the member governments have created to carry out the pact's purposes are making an important contribution to world peace. We are glad to be participating in these activities."

Not A Full Member

The United States has never become a full member of the pact, which was conceived by Secretary of State Dulles. But it has joined the military, economic, and anti-subversion committees and is considered a member in everything but name.

A 17-member U.S. delegation is attending the meeting, headed by deputy Undersecretary of State Loy Henderson.

The pledges to maintain the pact and build up its strength were made in opening speeches by Henderson, Khan and the heads of the delegations of Britain, Iran and Turkey.

Select Jury In Sedition Trial Today

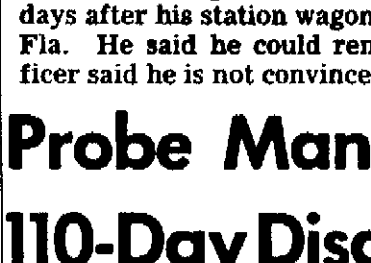

Couple, Partner Charged With Inciting Mutiny

San Francisco.—Selection of a jury in the Powell sedition trial, only court case of its kind to come out of the Korean war which congress never declared, began today.

Chief U.S. District Judge Louis E. Goodman is presiding.

Powell

Mrs. Powell

The case has taken almost three years to reach trial stage. John W. Powell, 39, his wife Sylvia, 39, both of San Francisco, and Julian Schuman of New York were indicted April 25, 1956.

Powell published a magazine in postwar Shanghai, the China Monthly Review. He kept it going after the Chinese communists came to power, with his wife and Schuman as associate editors. All three returned to the United States in 1955 after the magazine folded.

Charge Sedition

They are charged under the sedition act of 1917 with conspiring to obstruct the war effort and incite mutiny among U.S. forces by circulating copies of the magazine in the United States. The government says the conspiracy consisted of publishing charges that the United States waged germ warfare and obstructed truce negotiations. This was conspiracy, says the government, because the defendants knew the reports to be false.

Powell was born in Shanghai but educated in the United States at the University of Missouri. During World War II he worked for the office of war information in Washington and in China. His wife, the former Sylvia Campbell of Pendleton, Ore., was a post-war UNRRA worker in Shanghai. Schuman, Boston-born, was a radio correspondent in Shanghai before he joined the Review's staff.

Trial Delayed

Defense effort to obtain evidence and other maneuvers have delayed the trial. First the defense, led by Los Angeles Attorney A. L. Wirin, sought to bring Chinese witnesses to the United States to testify to their asserted knowledge of American germ warfare. The red government refused to allow this unless the United States sign a mutual legal assistance agreement. The U.S. government refused to do this on grounds it would constitute partial recognition of the Peking government.

Then the defense got the government to send Wirin to China to interview witnesses. He returned saying he could produce a thousand witnesses, including scientists.

Predict Advances In Space Program

Washington.—America's space chief says there's a good chance we'll circle the moon without landing in the next 10 years.

And he said there's an outside chance samples of the moon's surface may be brought back to earth. But he didn't say just how.

Dr. T. Keith Glennan said in a week interview that prospects for success of the national aeronautics and space administration he heads are based on the assumption the agency will get strong national support.

Glennan predicted such things within the decade as: Good progress toward manned space laboratories orbiting the earth for long periods and being supplied by rockets.

Weather satellites with worldwide coverage. Global systems of communications satellites relaying radio, television and other signals.

Rocket propulsion advances with the probability of developing up to six million pound thrust.

Nuclear powered engines for space rockets.

Church Moves To Gain Complete Integration

New York.—The Presbytery of New York is setting up a network of branch churches. Services will be conducted in storefront chapels and living rooms.

The object is to achieve complete racial and cultural integration of the Presbytery's 62 Presbyterian churches.

The Rev. Dr. Wendell Q. Halverson, 42, recently installed head of the Presbytery, sees the achievement of that goal, in practice as well as policy, as his chief job.

He says the challenge to integrate is becoming increasingly greater as population shifts leave whites in the minority in the city's Protestant church memberships.

More than 55 per cent of the city's 900,000 Protestant church members are non-white. Of this total 440,000 are Negroes and 90,000 Spanish-speaking people.

To meet the challenge, Dr. Halverson would like the church to adopt a "peripatetic ministry."

Under that program, 25 or 30 clergymen would be assigned to one central church and would serve the various communities in any one section.

Catholic Schools In Milwaukee to Close for Ceremony

Milwaukee.—Archbishop William E. Cousins, the new head of the Milwaukee Roman Catholic archdiocese, will be enthroned at St. John's cathedral Tuesday.

Archbishop Cousins was due here late this afternoon aboard a special train from Peoria, Ill., where he served as bishop for six years.

Catholic grade and high schools in Milwaukee will be closed Tuesday for the enthronement ceremonies, which will be televised.

Archbishop Albert G. Meyer of Chicago will install his successor.

James E. Harrison, left, believed murdered since his disappearance last October, breaks into tears after a reunion with his wife, Jeannie, at Miami, Fla. Harrison turned up alive and well in Phoenix, Ariz., 110 days after his station wagon was found in Jacksonville, Fla. He said he could remember nothing but an officer said he is not convinced Harrison's story is true.

Probe Man's Story of 110-Day Disappearance

Police Believe Someone Was Slain in Station Wagon but Fail to Find Body

Jacksonville, Fla.—James E. Harrison offered help today in a nationwide investigation of his disappearance more than three months ago.

Harrison turned up alive and well in Phoenix, Ariz., 110 days after his station wagon was found in Jacksonville. He said he could remember nothing but an officer said he is not convinced Harrison's story is true.

Lt. H. L. Sands of the Duval county sheriff's office said after interviewing Harrison at Miami yesterday that "there are too many points in his story I find hard to believe." But he added he had checked Harrison for weeks "and every indication is that he is of excellent character."

Officers still suspect someone was slain in Harrison's station wagon Oct. 17 but they haven't been able to find a body.

Harrison, 32-year-old Indian River City business man, told police an armed man forced his way into his station wagon at a stoplight in Cocoa, Fla., and demanded a ride to Jacksonville.

Harrison said he couldn't remember anything between driving his car into a Jacksonville parking lot at the gunman's order, and waking up Friday night at Phoenix.

Officers said they discounted a California convict's repudiation of a confession he made to killing a man with Harrison's identification papers at Jacksonville.

Shallow Grave

Roy Victor Olson, 29, facing a 5-year sentence for slaying a Sacramento, Calif., television announcer, said he buried the man in a shallow grave south of here.

The confession said Olson and James A. Leach, 21, of Jellico, Tenn., were given a ride near Lake City to Jacksonville Oct. 7 by a man Olson thought was Harrison.

Harrison's bloodstained station wagon was found abandoned here a week later.

Olson said he stole the vehicle after slugging and stabbing the driver, then left the station wagon in Jacksonville.

Others Taking Part

Father John J. Carroll of Sheboygan, will be deacon of the mass. The subdeacon will be Father Paul Lipscomb of St. John Vianney parish in the Milwaukee suburb of Brookfield.

Father John Burns, curate at Christ King parish, Wauwatosa, will be conferred upon Archbishop Cousins during the ceremony.

Archbishop Cousins will become the spiritual leader of 563,000 Catholics in the Milwaukee archdiocese.

The enthronement ceremony will begin with a procession of the clergy.

The enthroning prelate will receive the apostolic bulls announcing the appointment of the archbishop and will read them first in Latin and then in English.

Hand Him Crozier

The officiating prelate then will lead the archbishop to the throne and hand him the crozier, sometimes called the pastoral staff, a symbol of church authority. This is the central ritual in the enthronement.

The archbishop then will give his blessing to the congregation, his consultants, the clergy and the superior of religious houses of men in the archdiocese then approach to pay homage. The enthronement will be followed by a pontifical mass.

Governor Absent as Alaskan Lawmakers Convene First Time

Guiding Reins in Hands of Former FBI Agent, State Secretary Wade

Juneau, Alaska.—Alaskan lawmakers convened here today for the first time since the new state of Alaska's first legislature convened here today. But a former FBI agent, who didn't seek the job, will have to guide the lawmakers.

Huge J. Wade, secretary of state and acting governor, grasped the reins of what is believed the strongest executive type state government when Gov. William A. Egan became critically ill. The two are the only elected state officers.

Arduous Task

This 37-year-old former FBI agent, who came to the northland 26 years ago, faced the arduous task of outlining the administrative program that is to shape the 49th state's new government.

In messages to the legislature, Wade will attempt to pad the skeleton of Alaska's streamlined constitution.

Behind Wade will be two other Democrats—Eskimo William E. Beltz, 46, and Warren A. Taylor, who came to the nation's largest state 50 years ago and first served in the old territorial legislature in 1933.

Beltz was chosen yesterday at a pre-legislative caucus as senate president. Taylor was named speaker of the house of representatives.

Still Critical

Meanwhile, Egan still is on the critical list after emergency surgery for an abdominal ailment at a Seattle hospital. He has been ill since a few hours after his inauguration Jan. 3.

The task before the infant state's legislators is enormous. Speculation on the length of their first session has ranged from three months to as long as a year.

First on the agenda will be the reorganization of a maze of more than 50 agencies, departments, commissions and boards. These were established during Alaska's nearly 100-year history as a territory.

Those departments are to be squeezed into no more than 20 state departments. The initial recommendation likely will call for no more than a dozen.

Byrnes Promises To Cooperate With GOP Leader

Washington.—Rep. John W. Byrnes, R-Wis., said today the house Republican policy committee will cooperate closely with national committee Chairman Meade ALCORN in setting forth GOP objectives.

Byrnes replaced Rep. Joseph W. Martin as head of the 32-member policy group, which he said will hold its first meeting Tuesday.

ALCORN, at a party meeting in Des Moines last week, called for creation of a study committee to recommend adoption of a set of principles to guide the party until the 1960 national convention.

Byrnes said one of the main tasks is to explain to the American people just what the Republican program is.

"We must not only explain to the people what our position is but why we arrived at that position," Byrnes said.

Counterfeiter Arrested After Passing First Bill

Independence, Mo.—A 20-year-old man who told police he made 50 counterfeit $10 bills was arrested Sunday after he passed the first one in buying gasoline.

The filling station attendant noticed the bill's off-shade of green and called police.

Police said Floyd M. Norris, Mokane, Mo., told them he printed the bills after hours at a Kansas City stationery company where he works.

Lt. Lloyd Baer quoted Norris, who is to be charged with counterfeiting, as saying: "I thought I'd make some just to see if people were dumb enough to take them."

Madison — The new Democratic state treasurer is spending his first days in office wondering what may happen to the state office he happily won in the election battles of last November.

Eugene Lamb, Milwaukee, first Democratic state treasurer in 24 years, has listened quietly as Gov. Nelson, head of the 1958 victorious state ticket, has outlined his plan for a reorganization of the state's financial services.

But when "the opportune time comes," he told a reporter, he expects to get his opposition views on the record. He doesn't propose to support a reorganization within the state government that would deprive him of all of his duties, and ultimately, of his office as well.

Gov. Nelson and his advisors have not yet said, in literal terms, they want to get rid of the state treasurer's office.

Transfer Functions

But they have suggested the statutory functions of the state treasury be transferred with seven other independent agencies or divisions into a new department of administration and finance to provide "more economical and efficient management of the state government."

To the sophisticated that means a proposal for ultimate extinction of the treasurer's office. The office has no duties except statutory duties, and if they are withdrawn, the legislature would not be inclined to permit the continued existence of the office.

As one that is created by the constitution, however, the treasurer's office would continue until abolished by an amendment of the constitution.

Nelson and other spokesmen for the administration have expressed hope that there will be bi-partisan support for his reorganization measures. But it is reasonably certain that Treasurer Lamb, among administration Democrats, won't endorse the integrated finance division proposition and there is considerable doubt that the Republicans in the legislature will be inclined to back such sweeping proposals. The Republicans retain a majority control in the state senate.

Youth Needs Internal Discipline, Legion Told

Self-Control Key to U. S. Greatness, Air Force Academy Chaplain Says

American young people need a sense of internal discipline, Col. Constantine Zielski, Air Force academy chaplain, said in Appleton Sunday.

The chaplain addressed the mid-winter conference of the Wisconsin American Legion. Too many young people feel that freedom means the right to do what they want, not what they ought to do, he declared. If the attitude persists, its just as dangerous as armed attack.

Key to Greatness
Self control, with law, is the key to American greatness, Col. Zielski stated.

He equated loss of self-control with booming material prosperity. "When material things become too great a factor in our lives, a weakening of moral fiber occurs," the chaplain said.

"People think too much about their rights and privileges and not enough about duties and responsibilities."

No Cookie Jar
America isn't a cookie jar, Zielski told the Legionaires. People can't expect an unending flow of good things if they refuse to contribute something to society.

There are only two ways to achieve discipline, he said. "You achieve discipline with a cop's club or through self control.

"The first way is that of a dictatorship. The other is the way of a democracy. People have to learn that self-control and democracy go hand in hand."

Commends Legion
The chaplain commended the Legion for its work with youth, especially through its Americanism program.

In an address Saturday night, Albert Keller, commander of the Illinois Legion, urged the organization to make greater efforts on behalf of child welfare.

He cited guidance work, more youth activities, rehabilitation projects and Americanism programs as key tools for good youth work.

Allow Canada to Ship Jets for Trujillo Across United States

Washington—(AP)—The state department is understood to have given a Canadian firm permission to ship 12 jet fighter planes across the United States on their way to the Dominican Republic.

Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo is reported buying the jets to bolster his Dominican air force in the wake of the revolution in Cuba.

The 12 planes reportedly are the forerunner of 31 British-built Vampires being bought by Trujillo. The fighters can fly about 500 miles an hour but are considered obsolete compared to later supersonic models.

The Dominican air force is reported to have 30 or 40 jet fighters, some of them bought in Sweden.

Two areas were added that have not had such allowances before — Hawaii and the Sudan. The rate in Hawaii will range from $1.55 to $3.50 a day for enlisted men and $1.90 to $4.80 a day for officers.

The Pentagon said the new system is expected to have living, the Pentagon added.

French Designers Have Made Wigs Fashionable for Women

BY GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

New York — To get far away from unreality, from Mikoyan and bankers and other romantic persons who seek to accomplish the unaccomplishable, let us turn to the fashion of ladies wearing wigs. Maybe you have not seen them — wigs of all colors designed to enhance original beauty.

It used to be a custom in some countries for a woman, soon after her marriage, to cut her hair. That meant that she sacrificed her beauty to the rite of marriage. Such a woman would wear a wig and all wigs looked alike. Therefore, she had signalled all and sundry that she was taken and was no longer available. Often she looked premature-aged, but that was nothing compared to those who black-up their teeth to make themselves unattractive. It would seem as though in more primitive societies, various means had to be taken to make the married woman unattractive, so that the husband might feel secure in his own-ership. The husband did not devise similar means for himself, he being a man and not subject to female curbs.

Hard to Believe

During the past year or so, the French dressmakers, who control the lives of women who like to be stylish, have been doing their best to bring back all the ridiculous styles of the past, but it is hard to believe that all else having failed, they would resort to wigs.

It used to be that a woman's hair was her special pride and she wore as much of it as nature provided. It was also true that while men cut the hair on soon after her marriage, to their heads short, they resort-cut her hair. That meant that she sacrificed her beauty to the rite of marriage. Such a woman would wear a wig and all wigs looked alike. Therefore, she had signalled all and sundry that she was taken and was no longer available. Often she looked premature-aged, but that was nothing compared to those who black-up their teeth to make themselves unattractive. It would seem as though in more primitive societies, various means had to be taken to make the married woman unattractive, so that the husband

Styles Change

Women in those days did not wear wigs but they used a thing which we youngsters called a rat and which held compared to those who black-up their teeth to make themselves unattractive. It would seem as though in more primitive societies, various means had to be taken to make the married woman unattractive, so that the husband says that she will let her hair grow long, she really means short but not as short as the Italian bob which is an attempt to make a girl look like a boy. But the wig is the last word and nobody quite understands why any woman who has all her hair needs to wear a wig except that the wig-makers want to live too and why not give them a break?

Few women nowadays look naturally beautiful. They fuss too much about themselves. They make their hair look wooden by rinses and dyes and they put so much stuff on their faces that they get a hard look, particularly around the eyes. The peach-glow complexion is rare to behold. In fact, when a woman has too much fuzz on her face, she gets it off with electrolysis which must be very painful, indeed.

It used to be said of American women that they dressed to please themselves and other women but never to please men. This cannot be true as regards wigs. Who wants to wear a wig except on the assumption that it will stimulate adoration in a faltering husband?

Daughter of Nehru in Line For Leadership

Tabbed to Head Congress Party, Biggest in India

New Delhi — Mrs. Indira Gandhi, daughter of Prime Minister Nehru, says she is thrilled but a bit frightened by the prospect of becoming president of the congress party, India's biggest.

"It will be the biggest challenge I have faced," said Mrs. Gandhi. "I hope to be able to live up to what is expected of me."

Mrs. Gandhi, a slim, striking brunet of 41, has been nominated by half a dozen state congress committees to head her father's party, which has governed India since independence.

Although the nominations remain open until Feb. 1 it is expected she will be named by acclamation when the votes are counted March 1.

Mother of Two

Mrs. Gandhi is the mother of two boys. Her grandfather was president of congress until succeeded by his son in 1929. The present prime minister served five terms before asking to be relieved in 1954 because of the press of other duties.

Mrs. Gandhi said she decided to accept the nomination during the recent plenary session of congress at Nagpur.

"At first I was against it. When I heard signatures were being collected for my name I tried to stop it. But some of the congress people I respect most came to see me and would not leave with no for an answer."

Her father was not among those who persuaded her.

"I was not even allowed to consult him," Mrs. Gandhi said with a smile. "I was asked to make up my own mind and that was the only way it could have been done."

"I have been making up my own mind for a long time. My father always expected it of me. Remember he was away from home much of the time after I was 12."

Only Child

Nehru, whose wife died in 1936, spent much of his time in the independence movement and some in British jails during India's childhood. She is his only child and his official hostess.

Indira said her father is "not very happy" about her candidacy but as always allows her to go her own way.

She is married to Feroz Gandhi, a prominent lawyer and a member of parliament. He is no relation to the late Mohandas Gandhi.

One Mile or $250,000?

The special joint committee of the Outagamie and Winnebago county boards, which must recommend a location for the proposed Fox Cities Extension center of the University of Wisconsin, has had three sites presented to it by citizens' committees of Kaukauna, Appleton and Neenah-Menasha. The committee has the rather difficult job of deciding which it will recommend to the two county boards.

The very fact that the two counties are working together on this matter through a joint committee represents a tremendous stride forward in community action in the Fox Cities area. Even more important is the fact that Kaukauna, Appleton and Neenah-Menasha are engaged in friendly competition with one another in advancing their respective sites. We say friendly competition because we are quite certain that the members of the citizens' committees representing the three communities, while warmly arguing the merits of their own site, all realize that the overriding objective is to provide an adequate home for the university in the Fox Cities and that the site question, while important, is secondary. Thus is being laid to rest, we hope, the old boogeyman idea that the Fox Cities cannot compete among themselves without engendering bitterness and jealousies. Neither of these things has been apparent in the extension center project, and we are sure neither is going to appear.

If the site proposed by the Appleton Citizens' committee should be recommended, an interesting situation will be created in the Outagamie County board. Before the board appropriated $250,000 for its share of the extension center building, a number of supervisors argued that the board should insist on a location in Outagamie county, and that if Winnebago county refused to go along with this idea then Outagamie county should "go it alone," in other words appropriate the entire $500,000 itself.

The "Appleton" site is located in the town of Menasha in Winnebago county about one mile south of the Outagamie county line. The Appleton committee obviously ignored political boundaries in its study, basing its selection instead on such factors as nearness to the center of population, traffic arteries, public transportation routes and the like.

The question may therefore arise, do these "go it alone" supervisors feel the taxpayers of Outagamie county are willing to shell out an extra quarter of a million dollars just for the satisfaction of moving the center one mile farther north so it can be within their county's borders? We understand these supervisors' pride in their county — we hope we are just as proud of it — but we doubt that the county's already hard-pressed taxpayers are willing to pay that much for prestige.

Pan-Americanism Reconsidered

Dr. Milton Eisenhower has submitted a report to the President on United States-Latin American relations as a followup of a similar report he made five years ago. In essence, Dr. Eisenhower's suggestions are much the same as before only now are offered "with a note of urgency" due to the fact the people below the border, still with a high percentage of illiteracy and low living standards, are finding these are not something which must be endured. Behind Dr. Eisenhower's report is the realization that such people, enamored of fascism during the 1930s, can be as easily swayed by communism in this era.

Dr. Eisenhower recommends that the Organization of American States take the lead in urging each nation to form a national commission of prominent citizens to promote "broad understanding" of the aims and situations of the other nations. The attitudes and policies toward each other and particularly those of Latin American republics toward the United States and vice versa should be re-examined, he reports.

Since much of the Latin American problem is financial, Dr. Eisenhower urges that the "projected Inter-American Development Institution . . . be so organized and staffed as to assist the American republics in development planning, in the assignment of priorities, and in the preparation of loan projects; and that the United States International Cooperation Administration assist in the financing of this section of the development agency through its technical cooperation funds." The United States should subscribe "a significant portion of the paid-in capital of the new institution" and urge a new Inter-American Bank "adhere to a sound lending policy" similar to that of the World Bank.

As far as private investment from the United States is concerned, Dr. Eisenhower makes it clear that the burden of responsibility lies with the countries desiring such investment. About 80 per cent of invested U. S. capital is from private sources but "this problem is largely outside our hands. Private capital cannot be driven. It must be attracted." Such attraction "involves the avoidance of discriminatory restraints, the maintenance of stable financial and political policies in each country, the absence of discriminatory labor laws, control of inflationary forces, a reasonable return on the investment, ability to remit dividends to the lending country in the current cy of that country, and, above all, a favorable attitude toward private competitive enterprises which are to be financed with the private capital." In other words, Latin American nations wanting private U. S. investment must cease basing their attitude upon past mistakes of both sides, United Fruit company rumors, or mutterings about old-fashioned Dollar Diplomacy.

Financially also, Dr. Eisenhower asks for U. S. encouragement of common market plans now in the birthing process in Central America, and U. S. participation, if requested, in 1-commodity study groups seeking to eradicate one of the reasons for instability of income in coffee producing nations.

Finally, Dr. Eisenhower recommends that we "refrain from granting special recognition to a Latin American dictator" but that we should not withdraw U. S. programs from countries merely because they are ruled by a dictator. The line here is so fine as to be almost erased.

The entire history of United States-Latin American relations has been difficult due principally to the difference in industrial growth and standards of living as well as emotional differences. Our guarantee of the independence of the revolting colonies more than a century ago grew into a paternalism and even exploitation which the Latin Americans came to resent. However, as we sought to meet them on terms of more equality we were constantly faced with doubt. During World War II, for instance, Latin America thrived on our desperate need while it contributed little in the way of fighting men with some notable exceptions. And, although there seems to be a trend toward real republics from the constant overturning of one strong man after another, stability is far away in many of the nations.

Nevertheless our relations with our southern neighbors have improved tremendously in this century. It is to our advantage that they improve even more and this means the delicate business of leadership without paternalism, cooperation without dictation.

Dr. Eisenhower seems to have placed the responsibility equally on both the United States and the Latin American nations. That is the only way in which better understanding, higher standards of living and friendlier relations can be accomplished.

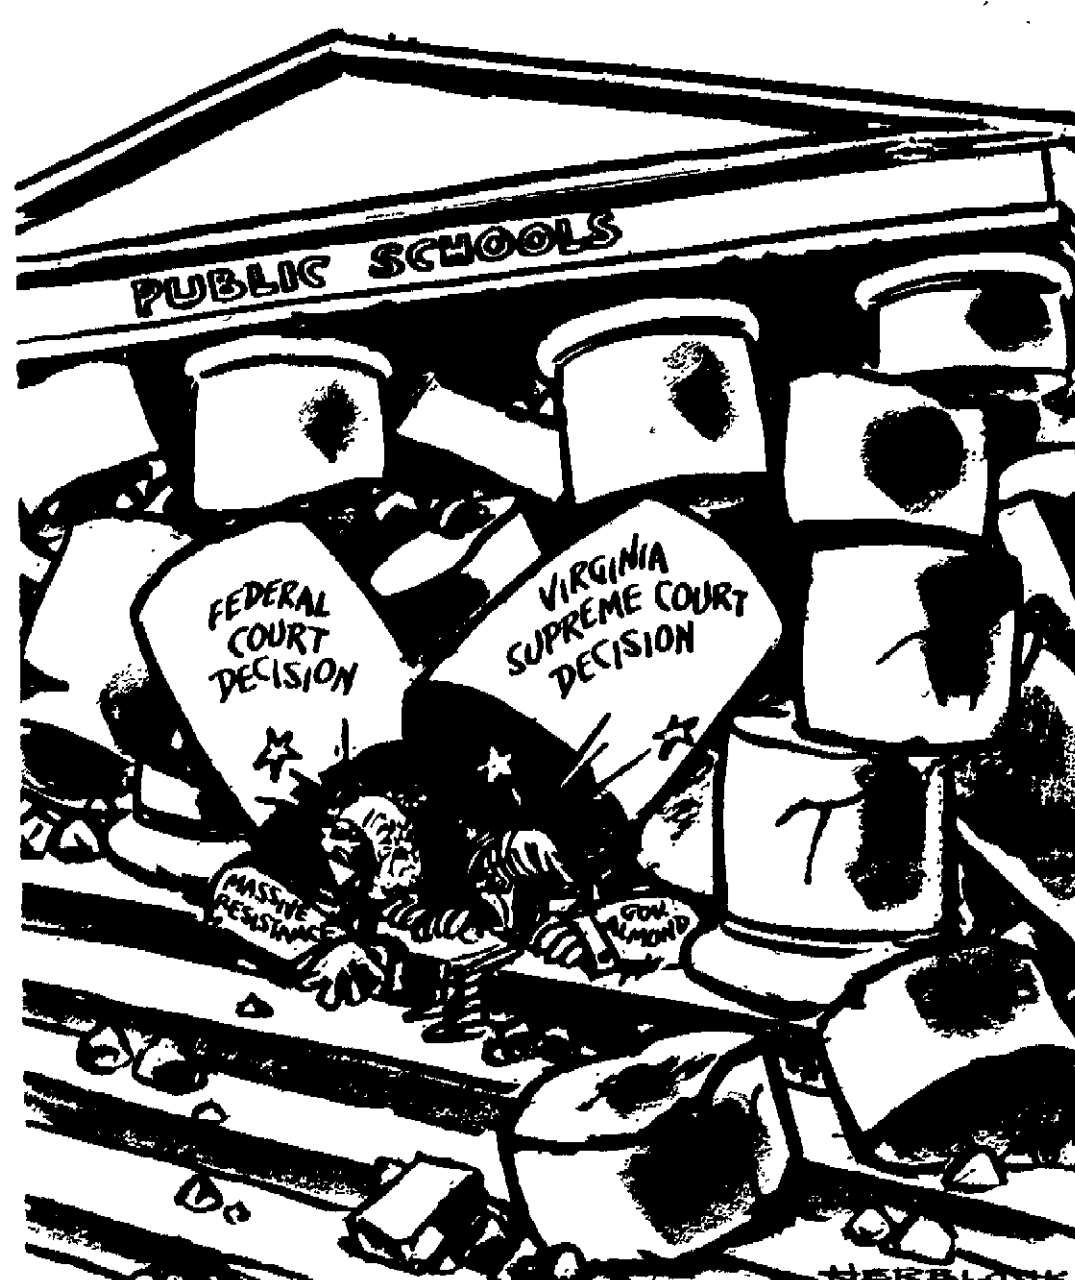

into them. Nothing is ever more valuable than a good idea and these bombers literally have hundreds in their construction. These ideas involve the latest developments in science, the latest electronic equipment and others that tend to make the plane lighter. Combinations of metals much less valuable than gold are worked into the plane in intricate patterns to carry out the ideas. The metals have considerable weight but practically no value while ideas have no weight whatsoever but great value. When the valuable ideas are laid across the metals, the combination brings the value up far above the mere weight of gold. The President's remark really was not a startling thing.

was losing so much money that there was talk of going out of business. How did they snap out of it? By speeding up service, we hear. The city cooperated by granting exclusive traffic lanes in peak hours.

Government Won't Fit in Business

From The Hot Tri-City Record
The recent action of the Sheboygan board concerning the doing of private work by the county highway crews is going to be followed in this county, we'll bet. There is little reason for the county's crews to do work for individuals. The costs seem high, but the prices charged seem unrealistically low. We ask if the difference comes out of the taxpayers' pockets? It would seem to us that government in business should be eliminated and the first place to step in at the county and city level.

Boating Enthusiasts May Ruin Fox River for State Sportsmen

From The Portage Daily Register

One of Wisconsin's greatest possibilities for 1959 may be wrecked by a handful of selfish enthusiasts unless the people of the state wake up and act.

A few boating enthusiasts around Princeton and Berlin are demanding that the locks at Princeton be kept open so they can putt-putt to their heart's content and all of the rest of the state can go The state emergency board agreed to accept all federal upper Fox River properties and congress put aside $300,000 to put them in shape for acceptance by the state of Wisconsin.

If anything has ever been the trouble with the direction of conservation efforts in Wisconsin, it has been caused by small, selfish pressure groups. Senator Smathers backs Lyndon Johnson for president. There's no doubt Johnson would sweep every part of the south—except south Chicago.

He says Republicans should quit being "hibernating elephants." They ought to be up and about. Gettysburg, Augusta, Thomasville, places like that.

Republicans meeting in Des Moines sound like Britain's angry young men—after tax.

by congress. A number of state agencies have been involved in planning, but the state conservation department was to be given most of the supervision.

The general idea was and is to give fish and wildlife a new chance in a vast area. Never was there an area more ideally located and naturally fitted for the perpetuation of fish, waterfowl, upland birds and animals.

Instead of a fluctuating water level, presumably at the mercy of a few Berlin or Princeton boat owners who might want to go up or downstream for a few hours, the original plan was to keep a constant water level so wildlife might have a permanent haven.

We hope the true friends of Wisconsin and its great natural resources halt this selfish, minority group. We suggest they storm Madison with protests.

It would be better to bring the matter before the new Governor Gaylord Nelson. Having won election by such a tremendous majority, it could be that he would ignore a few selfish voters in the interests of all of the state of Wisconsin.

College Day of Prayer Planned

79 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of Jan. 31, 1880.

The day of prayer for colleges occurs Thursday, Jan. 29th. The day is observed generally in all college states throughout the union. Appropriate exercises will be held at the Methodist church in the morning at 10:30 o'clock.

Rev. Henry Faville, of the class of '71, will preach the sermon, and Dr. Huntley will be present to take part in the exercises. Prayer meeting will be held in the College Chapel at 2:30 p.m.

It is hoped that the citizens will more generally observe the day than they have on previous occasions.

Dr. A. A. Trever of Lawrence college faculty was to address the Rotary club. His subject was to be the Foreign Policy of the Roosevelt Administration.

Homer H. Benton was elected president of the Outagamie County Bar association to succeed John A. Lonsdorf. H. H. Pelkey was elected vice president to succeed Mr. Benton and Miss Patricia Ryan was reelected secretary and treasurer. A. S. Bradford and E. S. Godfrey were named directors.

Oney Johnston post of the American Legion was second in the annual state department membership race which terminated with the mid-winter conference. Appleton reported 410 members and Green Bay won first place with 567.

Organization of a new farmer's credit association, which was to serve farmers of Outagamie, Waupaca and Waushara counties was completed at Waupaca. The association was to be known as the Waupaca Production Credit association and it was to be capitalized at $75,000.

Corp. Eugene R. Jansen, Appleton, served in the United States Marine unit which provided the special guard around the Capitol building during the inauguration of President Harry S. Truman.

Lt. Gov. Nash Will Do Nelson's Liaison Work

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison—Cuff notes from the capitol beat:

The legislative liaison work that other governors typically assigned to an executive staff officer will be handled by Lt. Gov. Phil Nelson, according to Wyngaard present appearances.

Nelson also intends to keep in as close touch with individual legislators as possible, something that will be easier and more natural for him than for some of his predecessors because he so recently served with a majority of them.

Wisconsin politicians are circulating the report that former Gov. Walter J. Kohler is interested in the vacancy expected to occur soon in the office of secretary of the navy. Washington accounts, however, do not mention Kohler as they speculate about other probable candidates for the succession to Secretary Gates who is expected to quit about March 1.

PASSED OVER

One of the promising young men in the Democratic majority in the assembly who was completely passed over in leadership recognition, to the astonishment of most on-lookers, is Assemblyman Thomas Duffey of Milwaukee.

As Duffey looks over some of the other men who won chairmanships of committees by the choice of Speaker George Molinaro he probably has a right to surmise that he is playing in the outfield this year.

Republican headquarters is hopelessly planning to convert its new bulletin, now distributed in mimeograph form, into a weekly tabloid newspaper, complete with engravings, news, editorials and advertising, in March or April. The fact that the rival Democratic committee across the square has brought off such a project of its own apparently spurred action on a Republican plan.

Democrats already have huddled with their 1958 election statistics analysis to ponder the senate districts where the campaign pressure ought to be applied most heavily in 1960, in order to complete control of the state government with the capture of the upper house of the legislature. Among those who can expect extraordinary Democratic opposition are Sen. O'Brien of Green Bay and Sen. Bice of LaCrosse, and probably two or three others.

LEGISLATION SLOW

The machinery of the legislature probably won't be in full motion for two or three weeks, and some of the major propositions won't be up for public hearing for four weeks or more. The machinery is unusually slow this year, perhaps because of the change of political control. Bill introductions are also surprisingly few in the early weeks, remembering that there is a healthy proportion of new members, most of whom usually come to Madison with their briefcases overflowing with ideas for new statutes.

Speaker George Molinaro of the assembly is doing his utmost to heal the possible wounds left by the fight for assembly Democratic majority leadership. Assemblyman Huber of West Allis, who was tossed the speakership prize, has been assured that he will be consulted on all major policy matters in the legislature and in the executive office.

U.S. Throws 'The Book' At Soviet

From The Christian Science Monitor

The Soviet Union has been throwing "the book" at the United States; now the United States is throwing it back.

It has been throwing millions of books around the world — books in some 50 different languages. Books about this country — the classics, books on economics, history, fiction.

As a result, if a popularity contest were to be conducted today on the most popular American, way out front in that Gallup Poll would be — Abraham Lincoln!

In one Far Eastern country, a 25-cent paperback book on Lincoln sold out practically overnight — 25,000 copies!

A best seller on the streets in Arab countries is, of all things, "Little Women." Some 60,000 copies of the Arabic translation have already been snapped up — by little Arab women.

Dual Dealer

In an Asian country, one merchant rented doorway space for a bookstall featuring the low-cost, paperback English translations. He is reported to be doing a flourishing business during the day, and subletting the space for sleeping quarters at night.

The popularity of these paperbacks is such, rumor has it, that one truckload was hijacked and sold on the "black market."

It is thought they may even be trickling through the bamboo curtain into Red China from border countries where they are available.

Future Bathroom May Have Many More Facilities

From The Atlanta Constitution

A late 1958 trade journal carries the exciting information that the bathroom has been renamed the health room.

The health room, says the designers, will have these features: "Variable control health vibrator, power-operated towel cabinet, refrigerated health drink dispensers, 3-dimensional television, electronic memory scale and low frequency vibrating chair."

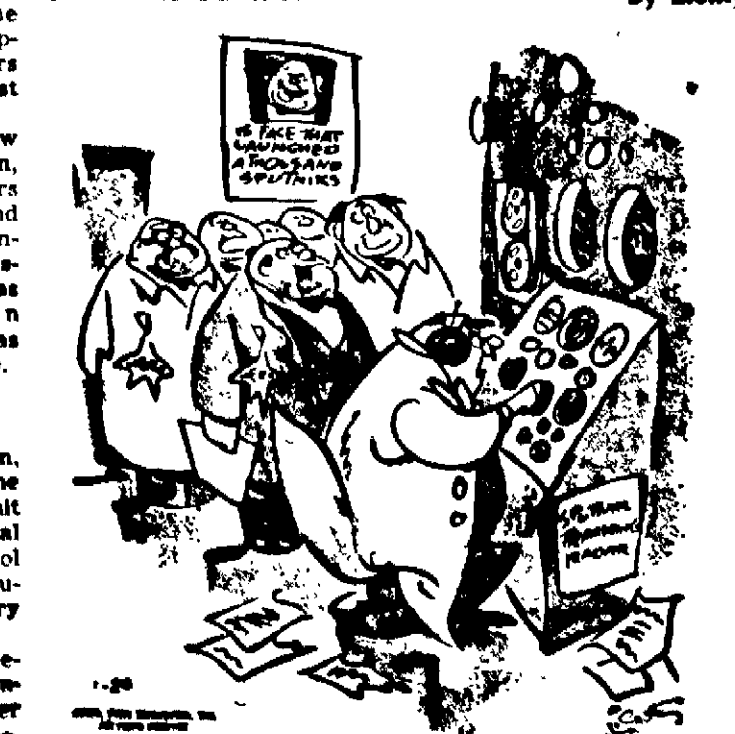

And, one assumes, hot and cold running water.

The old bathroom under a new name will be three times as big as the living room, they say.

By any name, two likely still will be a crowd at the early a.m. commuting hour.

Civil Rights Inches Over Obstructions

Oddly Mixed Group of Forces Advances Slowly Upon Problem

BY WILLIAM S. WHITE

Washington — The cause of Negro civil rights is inching forward over all the obstructions thrown up, by design or simply by emotional reflexes, by the bitter extremists of both south and north.

White

Patient men in both regions are moving in the finest traditions of tolerance and fair play. It may even be that we are entering the end of the beginning — in a phrase Churchill once used — of this sad dilemma.

It is an oddly mixed group of forces that is slowly advancing upon this problem of passion and prejudice, a passion and prejudice that do not live below the Mason Dixon line alone.

Virginia's state supreme court of appeals has become a gallant and distinguished court. Against all their deepest private wishes and convictions (and undoubtedly against the will of a great majority of the state), Virginia's gentlemen — justices have struck down Virginia's "massive resistance" laws against school integration. They have read the constitution and they have said no.

And in the white house, President Eisenhower is resolutely clinging to his properly impersonal and properly magisterial role. He is refusing to issue hot declarations in favor of the supreme court ruling outlawing segregation.

Finally, bipartisan forces headed by Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the senate Democratic leader, are preparing ultimately to adopt an addition to the Civil rights act of 1957. This was surely not the act wanted by the extremists or even by some who were not extremists. Still, it was a great advance, the first in eight decades.

All Are Running
And the changes now proposed will not do what the extremists want, or even what many non-extremists want. But they will, at least go a step farther. And in such an issue 10 centuries of Anglo-American parliamentary history suggests that it is far better to move ahead a little bit at a time, always retaining that little bit gained, than to plunge forward in anger only to be thrown far back in answering anger.

Is the Johnson plan political? And is he running for president on it? Certainly yes to the first question. Probably yes to the second. For every action of a legislative body is necessarily political. And there is other politics in this affair, too.

Those liberals demanding much more far-reaching legislation, in line with the wholly understandable but not necessarily wise demands of their supporters — are these not political? Are such liberal Democratic senators as Humphrey of Minnesota, Kennedy of Massachusetts and Symington of Missouri not running for president? Is Vice President Nixon, who is on their side in this matter, not running for president?

Of course, they are all running for president. And why not? What is needed, indeed, is:

1. Not to moan sadly that it is all political, but rather most deliberately to keep it all political and not emotional. For it is precisely a political solution, meaning a common-sense compromise, that is required, rather than an evangelical one.

2. To recognize that this is one of those harsh problems that simply will not yield to extreme attitudes or methods. It is the worst time, perhaps, in a hundred years of our na-

Milwaukee Road Will Purchase 52 Locomotives

Chicago — The Milwaukee Road has announced it will purchase 52 diesel locomotives of the 1,750 horsepower general purpose type at a total cost of more than $8 million. They will be built by the Electro-Motive division of General Motors corporation.

William J. Quinn, president of Milwaukee, William E. Cousins, who will be installed on Jan. 27.

of the railroad, stated the 52 units will replace an equal number of lower-powered units purchased between 1941 and 1945 and which are today among the line's older locomotives. The Milwaukee Road completed its dieselization program early in 1955. Each of the 1,750 horsepower units now on order will have its own operating controls and will be useful for yard switching during lay-over periods between line haul operations. The new units are scheduled for delivery to the railroad between March and July of this year.

the entire Philippine nation today to join a war on graft and corruption, which he termed "a cancer gnawing at our national entrails."

In a state of the nation address to the joint opening session of congress, the president also outlined a variety of remedies for the Philippines' serious economic plight.

He stressed his policy of seeking closer ties with other Asian countries is not a threat to special relations with the United States. "our staunchest friend and ally."

The president proposed an anti-graft court, which would be above influence, and new powers for the auditor general to block suspected illegal government deals.

Garcia's only reference to current Philippine disputes with the United States was a prediction that the revision of the agreement on U.S. bases would reach happy and realistic conclusion this year.

Historic Decisions Latest Ecumenical Council 21st in Long Church History

Vatican City — (U) — The ecumenical council which Pope John XXIII plans to call together will be the first this century for the Roman Catholic church and only the 21st in the church's nearly 2,000 years.

Previous ecumenical councils have taken historic decisions. One, the council of Trent, lasted for 18 years with several long adjournments.

The first such council, held in Nicea, now in Turkey, in 325, adopted a simple baptismal creed and fixed the date for Easter.

Second council: Convened in Constantinople (Istanbul) in 381, confirmed the acts of the first council and declared against various heresies. It was chiefly directed against the followers of Macedonius who questioned the divinity of the Holy Ghost.

Mother of God

Third council: Ephesus, 431, declared Mary the mother of God and condemned the doctrines of Nestorius.

Fourth council: Chalcedon, 451, defined the two natures (divine and human) of Christ.

Fifth council: Constantinople, 553, under Pope Vigilius and Emperor Justinian I, confirmed the first four general councils, especially the council of Chalcedon whose authority had been contested. It also condemned various heresies.

Sixth council: Constantinople, 680, defined two wills of Christ, the divine and the human.

Seventh council, Nicea, 787, regulated the veneration of holy images.

Eighth council: Constantinople, 869, consigned to the flames the acts of an irregular council brought together by Photius against Pope Nicholas and Ignatius, the legitimate patriarch of Constantinople.

Several Decades

The ninth to twelfth councils, inclusively, were held at the Basilica of St. John Lateran in Rome in 1123, 1139 and 1179. Decrees from the councils included one forbidding the clergy to marry. They also dealt with crusades to the Middle East and issued decrees for reform of morals.

The 14th and 15th councils were held in Lyons, France, in 1245 and 1272. The 14th excommunicated and deposed Emperor Frederick II, who did not heed the action. It also ordered a new crusade. The 15th effected a temporary reunion of the Greek church with Rome and laid down rules for papal elections.

Sixteenth council: Convened in Constance, 1414-1418, ended the great schism of the Roman Catholic church in the west, which had produced three rival popes, by the election of Pope Martin V. One of those who lost out was the first John XIII.

Seventeenth council, Basle-Ferrera-Florence, 1431-1438, effected a short-lived union with the Greek Orthodox church and decreed certain church reforms.

Disciplinary Decrees

Eighteenth council, at the Lateran in Rome, 1512-1517, issued chiefly disciplinary decrees and planned a new crusade against the Turks which never came off.

Nineteenth council: The council of Trent, 1545-1563, convened to meet the challenge of Martin Luther and other Protestant reformers. It condemned their beliefs, clarified and enunciated the orthodox dogma, and laid the foundation for modern church dogma and law. It was probably the most significant of the ecumenical councils and issued the largest number of dogmatic and reformatory decrees.

Twentieth council: At the Vatican, 1869-1870, decreed the pope infallible when speaking ex cathedra — as shepherd and teacher of all Christians — on matters of faith and morals.

in two huge ice jams which kept about 10 per cent of the city of 25,000 under water for five days.

At Pittston, Pa., rescue workers finally halted the flow of water from the Susquehanna river into a mine shaft where 12 men have been trapped since Thursday. Few believe the 12 men would be found alive. The big job of pumping out the tons of water which poured into the mine was expected to continue for two days. Thirty-three other miners escaped the flooded mine last Thursday.

The cold air covered a vast area from the central plains eastward through the upper and middle Mississippi valley to the Ohio valley, the lower Great Lakes region and parts of New England.

Snow spread along with the cold air from Kansas eastward into the Ohio valley and lower Great Lakes, with some freezing drizzle or drizzle at the southern edge of the cold air.

Coldest weather — below zero — was confined mainly to the upper Mississippi valley and the upper Great Lakes region. However, some zero weather was reported along the Canadian border. It was 17 below zero at Lone Rock, Wis., compared to 16 above 24 hours earlier.

Temperatures were 20 degrees lower than yesterday morning throughout most of the cold belt.

Survives Electric Jolt, But Seriously Burned

Lakewood, Colo. — (U) — A 19-year-old model airplane enthusiast survived a 115,000-volt electric charge yesterday.

The clothes were burned off Peter Warren. He suffered burns over 80 per cent of his body. He was hospitalized in critical condition.

Warren was flying a plastic model airplane controlled by a pair of copper wires. The plane struck the power line. The charge coursed down the wires to Warren, standing on moist ground.

of Rome and other Christian churches.

Dr. Visser't Hooft told newsmen it was too early to obtain a clear picture of the potential significance of the forthcoming ecumenical council for non-Catholic Christians.

"The subjects to be discussed have not yet been clearly defined," he said, "but the announcement itself shows the enormous importance of the question of Christian unity, which has become one of the fundamental problems of our time."

Potential Importance

In Geneva, Dr. W. A. Visser't Hooft, Dutch general secretary of the World Council of Churches, said the ecumenical council might develop into one of the most important steps ever taken toward Christian unity.

The World Council comprises virtually all the world's Protestant and Orthodox churches. It has no official relationship with the Roman Catholic church and all its efforts to establish formal contacts have been rejected.

But there are frequent private contacts between the council and individual Roman Catholic laymen and priests who hope for better understanding between the Church communism-controlled countries of east Europe. There are about 24 million in the United States.

Protestants May Attend

Vatican sources said that almost certainly bishops of the Eastern churches would be invited to attend.

It also was thought that Protestant churches would be invited to send representatives, at least as observers. But it was considered certain that the Roman church, in any consideration of union with the Protestants, would insist on supremacy of the papacy. This has always been one of the great obstacles to Christian reunification.

This was underlined by one of the Eastern Orthodox prelates—Metropolitan Anthony Bashir, archbishop of the Syrian Antiochian Archdiocese in New York. He objected particularly to the dogma of papal infallibility proclaimed at the last ecumenical council and said:

"When one side wants to rule the other side, then I am sure the Eastern churches will never take it."

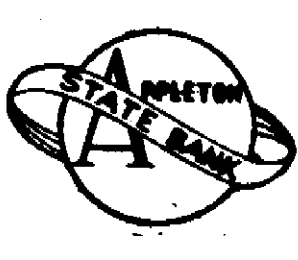

Express Interest

The first Protestant leaders queried expressed cautious interest. Dr. Edwin T. Dahlberg, president of the U. S. National Council of Churches, said any step toward unity of churches will be welcome but "it would have to be . . . a mutual coming together, not under conditions laid down by one church for all the others."

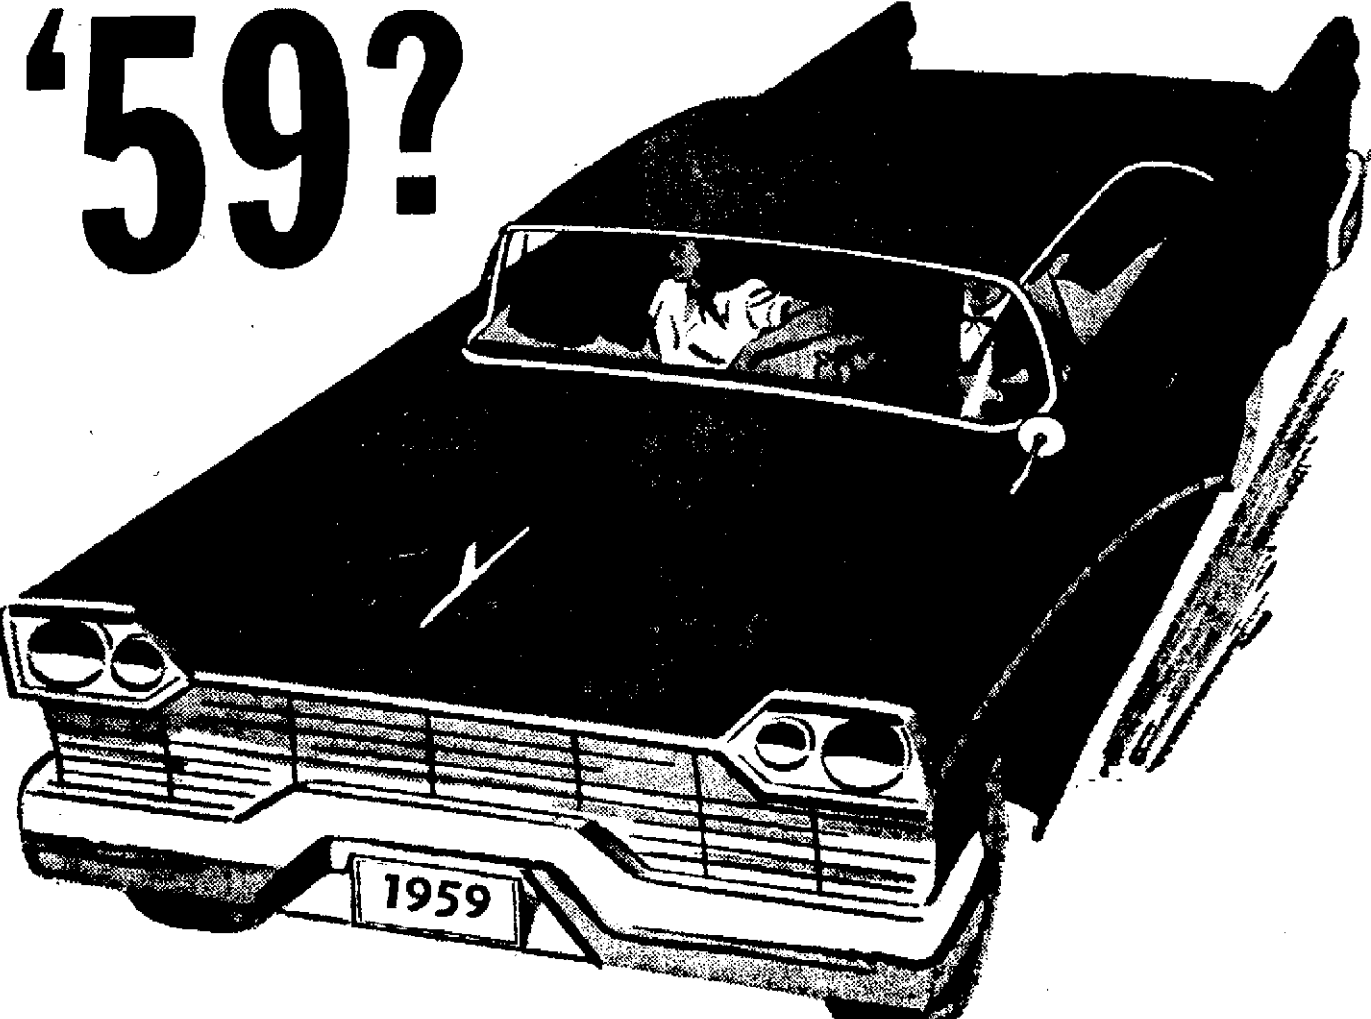

Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, the archbishop of Canterbury who heads the Church of England, declined to comment until he had read the full text of the Vatican announcement.

Keeping up the brisk activity of his 3-month-old pontificate, Pope John also announced the code of church law would be modernized. The first major revision in canon law in 42 years, it will probably take many years.

The pope said he also would hold a synod of the Diocese of Rome, an assembly of the Roman clergy to discuss problems facing the church membership in the city. As bishop of Rome, the pontiff heads the diocese.

Persistent Whale Takes Shore Leave

Brigantine, N. J. — (U) — When a half ton, 9-foot whale washed up on the beach here Sunday, 10 persons tried to tow it afloat again with a rope around the tail.

It worked. But the whale turned around and swam back to shore. Then they waited for high tide and tugged again. Waves tossed the mammal back on the beach.

The coast guard said beached whales are not its responsibility and local police could find no solution. So the whale took a night of shore leave while residents puzzled over the next move.

New York —(AP)— The Soviet communist party's 21st congress opens in Moscow tomorrow, with Nikita S. Khrushchev as the unchallenged stage manager. Before it closes, about two weeks hence, the world may witness the spectacle of a dictator desperately trying to look democratic.

What is emerging is a grotesque caricature of democracy, probably born of an anxiety to appease the population's eagerness for a form of government which would look respectable to the outside world.

But this congress will actually see all Khrushchev's opposition, including the so-called anti-party group, denounced and probably read out of the party on a set of charges which will be swallowed calmly by all present.

During his tour of the United States, Anastas I. Mikoyan told Americans — probably himself almost believing it — that the Soviet form of government is being democratized. Khrushchev himself has been exhibiting a passion for party participation in what he is trying to do. At the same time, Khrushchev is directing everything, and likely will continue to do so.

Khrushchev in Saddle
The premier and party boss is no Stalin. There is still no real Khrushchev cult. At Khrushchev's direction, the party still will be hailed as the real ruler of the nation.

But Khrushchev is dictating every step of the way. There is little doubt he will clear the party of the last whisper of opposition to his internal or external policies.

Only two years ago the 20th party congress sought to convince Russians and the world that the U.S.S.R. was run by collective leadership. Two years ago the climactic development of the nationwide congress was Khrushchev's denunciation of Stalin's rule. This time Khrushchev himself is the ruler, but depending not so much on Stalinlike force as upon the theme that teacher knows best.

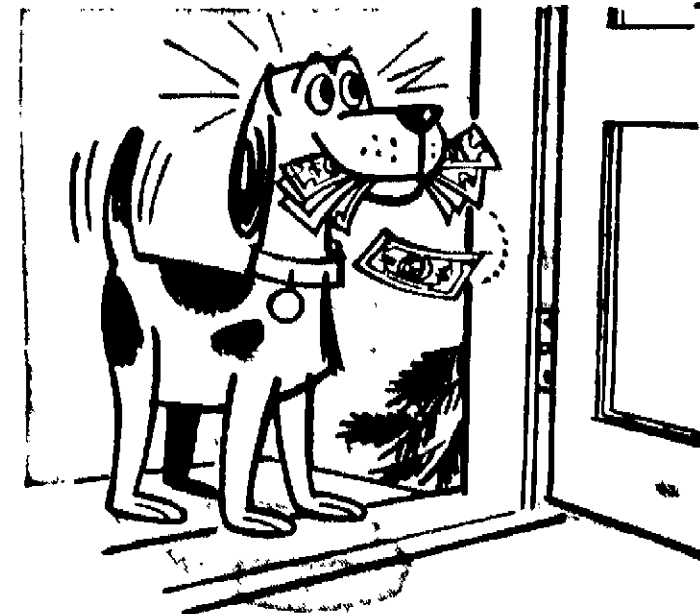

Theoretically, congresses are summoned at regular intervals to approve or change policies or leadership. In practice, the congress is just a show. Decisions are made on high, in advance.

Dominates Congress
Khrushchev will dominate the congress. His program for 7-year economic development has been discussed in mass meetings all over the country and will be unanimously endorsed. So will his programs for agricultural and educational changes, and his foreign policies.

An extraordinary series of full central committee meetings—in the past these have been fairly rare—indicated opposition to Khrushchev's policies was fading rapidly. What remains of it probably will get steamroller treatment. The party has been issuing grim warnings to any

Post Office Can't Deliver Child's Letter

Fairmont, W. Va. —(AP)— The letter, written in a child's scrawling hand, was beyond the ability of the post office to deliver. It read:

I hope it isn't as cold there as it is here. . . . 'Sissy and all the other kids are just fine and we all want you home for Christmas because without you it won't be

Nixon Not So Sure Of Nomination Now

Last Several Months Have Dealt Hard Blows to Vice President

BY JOSEPH ALSOP

Washington—President Eisenhower's second term has just passed its middle-point.
Hereafter, under the anti-

Franklin Roosevelt constitutional amendment, the vice president can
president at any time without sacrificing his right to seek two full terms of his own.

Furthermore, if the president laid down the heavy burden of his office and retired to Gettysburg tomorrow morning, the vast majority of Republican politicians would be almost too overjoyed to be polite about it. Maybe this is one of those things that are better left unsaid. But it is also a cold, hard, ascertainable fact of considerable political significance.

Of course no Republican politan in his senses thinks the president really will retire, unless his health takes an unexpected and unhappy turn for the worse. Dwight D. Eisenhower's pride, and the pleas of his entourage, will keep him on the job as long as he is capable of doing the job. When the politicians talk of what might happen if "Ike would only hand over to Dick," they really mean that they have little hope of the Republican party being reinvigorated by the president's leadership. In contrast, they feel the vice president might take the party into the battle of 1960 with a fair chance to win.

In these circumstances, it is ironical that the very same Republican politicians are also shaking their heads and muttering that "maybe Dick Nixon won't be nominated in 1960, after all, unless he becomes president before then."

Yet it is another cold, significant fact that Richard M.
Nixon's grip on the 1960 nomination is not nearly as unshakable as it once was.

Nixon himself has never concealed his opinion that "the polls beat Bob Taft" by making it appear that "Taft was a sure loser." Since Nixon holds his view, he must have been particularly impressed by the recent Gallup poll that ran him against Sen. John Kennedy of Massachusetts. The poll gave Nixon 38 per cent of the vote and Kennedy 49 per cent, with 14 per cent undecided.

Front Runner
Nixon has always said a front-runner like himself, being well known to the country, is especially vulnerable to bad news from the polls.
Politicians will not give the front-runner the benefit of the doubt. They tend to be more merciful to other candidates, because these candidates, being less widely familiar, have a better chance to come from behind by intensive nationwide campaigning.

If he decides to seek the nomination, Nelson Rockefeller will no doubt argue that he has a particularly good chance to come from behind in this matter, because he came from so far behind with such spectacular success in his own state.

Turn Thumbs Down on Soil Bank Expansion

Government Won't
Agree With Advice
By Farm Leaders

BY OVID A. MARTIN

Washington—The Eisenhower administration has in effect turned thumbs down on suggestions from many source that it expand its soil bank program designed to retire whole farms from production.
Some farm leaders in and out of Congress have said that retirement of much cropland for long periods of time offers one solution to the present problem of excess production of some crops, particularly grains.

Budget Message
In his budget message to Congress Monday, President Eisenhower recommended that the limit of $373 million for payments to farmers for retiring land under the long-range conservation reserve part of the soil bank this year be extended to cover 1960.

The costlier acreage reserve part of the soil bank was abandoned with 1958 crops.

Big Payments

Under it, payments totaling about $700 million were made to farmers who underplanted their allotments for cotton, corn, wheat, rice and tobacco.

Some farm leaders have suggested the government expand the conservation reserve beyond its present limits to get many small and less efficient farms out of production.

Under the conservation reserve, the department in effect rents cropland for periods

In Good Taste No Wrong In Asking About Bike

Dear Mrs. Post: Several years ago the son of our next-door neighbor got a very expensive bicycle from his parents for his birthday. He hardly used it and now he is grown up and away at boarding school. I know they still have the bicycle. Our son would very much like to have a bicycle. As they are quite expensive we really cannot afford to buy him a new one. I thought of asking our next-door neighbor if she would like to sell her son's bicycle as it is no longer being used and is just taking up space in the basement. I think she is keeping it because she doesn't know what else to do with it and that she will probably be glad to get it off her hands. My husband thinks that my asking would be very much out of order and that unless she herself mentions that she would like to sell it, I should say nothing about it.

Answer: It seems to me that you can quite properly ask your neighbor if she would like to sell the bicycle her son has outgrown, because it will certainly not embarrass her to tell you she wants to keep it for some relative to use when he gets to be big enough.

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please settle a question concerning table manners? My husband contends that it is proper to cut meat with a fork provided it can be done easily. I say it is wrong to cut meat of any kind except with a knife. Will you please settle this?

Answer: Your husband is right if the meat can easily be cut with no visible effort.

Dear Mrs. Post: When visiting a friend who lives in a large apartment house, and upon leaving the doorman gets a taxi for you, is it necessary to give him a tip?

Answer: Not if a taxi is at the door, but if the doorman has any difficulty in finding one, you should tip him.

Your Problems Thank-You Notes Appreciated By Corporation 'Top-Brass'

BY ANN LANDERS
DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 11-years-old and I won a 4-H County Home Economics award at our A C hievement Day celebration. My mother wants me to write a whole big letter to M o n t g o m e r y Ward because they donated the pins. I have talk- Ann Landers ed this over with several of my friends who also won pins and nobody else has to write a letter. I seem to be the only kid with this kind of a mother. I told her that a big company like Montgomery Ward doesn't give a hang if kids write in and say thank you for a little pin. My mother says this is not the point. She is pretty set in her ways so I thought I had better write to you for your ideas. Please print your answer. My mother always reads your articles and she says you sure do know your onions.—D.B.

Dear D. B.: Give your mother my love. I think she knows her onions, too—and I hope you'll listen to her. Never mind about the other kids. Go ahead and write that letter to Montgomery Ward. Of course it's a big company but big companies are made up of human beings and everyone likes to get a thank you letter. Your mother is trying to teach you a precious secret that most people NEVER learn in the journey from the womb to the tomb. The one who goes out of his way to do something that is not required or expected will shine like a diamond in a coal bin. Why? Because most of us are pretty lazy and unimaginative. P. S. Write to John A. Barr who is the president of Montgomery Ward and I'll bet you get a nice letter in return.)

DEAR ANN: I'm male, 36,

average looking and have no bad habits. I live on a farm with my folks but I own the adjoining property and rent it out at present. All my friends are married and have nice families. Bachelorhood has its advantages but the future looks lonesome. What I'm interested in is a working partner who would be willing to go 50-50 in the harness with me. Do you think there's any hope?—CARL

Dear Carl: Is it a horse or a woman you're looking for? From your description, it's hard to tell. If you think you can get either out of this column, you're sadly mistaken. Get off that tractor and go to the nearest town and meet people. Every community has young widows and unmarried women—both plain and fancy. Most of them are eager to meet men who have marriage in mind. Don't expect others to do your scouting, Bub. Get going.

DEAR ANN: The trouble started when I took a part-

Elliott Roosevelt, Jr., Grandson of Franklin Delano Roosevelt, claimed Miss JoAnne McFadden, Evanston, Ill., as his bride Saturday at Kenilworth Union church, Chicago. Wedding guests included his father, Elliott, and his grandmother, Mrs. Franklin Delano Roosevelt. The couple will live in Fort Worth, Texas.

wants only after he's had to cry for it. Recently this question was put to nearly a thousand mothers: "What do you do to keep your baby from crying for attention?"

Anticipate Needs

One realistic mother came up with some ideas which worked for her. Briefly, she suggested: anticipate his needs and he won't get into the habit of yelling for whatever he wants. For example, don't wait until he cries to feed him, if it's his regular feeding time. Forestall the squawks. Once he gets into the habit, he'll probably continue to cry for long after he's reached the age when he should be willing to wait a reasonable time to be fed.

By observing your baby, you soon can gauge when he may become bored with a toy and be ready to yell. Divert his attention with some other entertainment and there'll be no need for him to cry.

Change of Scene

Change his position after a reasonable length of time before you feel he'll become uncomfortable.

Give him a change of scene. New objects to look at will divert him.

Change wet or soiled diapers as soon as possible to help prevent diaper rash. One of the principal causes of diaper rash is the ammonia created by bacterial attack on urine.

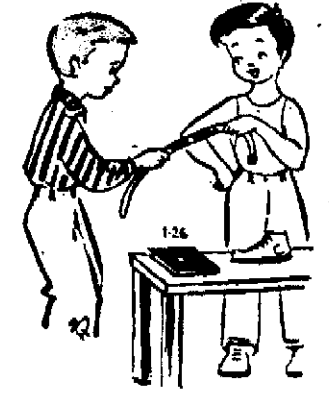

Fondling Helps

A sponge and fresh clothing do wonders to keep him from getting cranky. Sometimes a little fondling will do the trick.

Keep one step ahead of him and you'll save your ears and nerves an unnecessary beating from habitual yelling.

Pass Pass Pass

West's one-heart opening was extremely light, and most experts would prefer to pass originally, or open with a weak two-bid if they were using that method. However, there is something to be said for these very light opening one-bids when they are based on a good and some defensive strength. In any event, the bid did no harm in this case.

West led the seven of hearts. South captured East's nine with the jack, studied the situation, and then confidently laid down his diamond ace, intending of course to set up dummy's suit by leading his eight toward the Q-J-9-7. (West certainly should have the diamond king for his opening bid.) If South tried the alternative play of entering dummy in a black suit and finessing the diamond queen through East, he might easily lose two diamond tricks.

Beyond question, South's plan would have succeeded against 99 out of 100 players in West's position—but South was unfortunate in this case. West, a brilliant defender, saw that if he were forced in with the diamond king on the next lead of the suit, he would not have a chance. Obviously, South still had the king and another heart.

So West took drastic measures: he threw his diamond king on South's ace—and that play alone, as can be seen almost at a glance, was enough to defeat the contract.

Our Children Difference in Brothers Not Accepted by Family

Sam and Joe are brothers. Sam is two years older than Joe but Joe has caught up with him in school and by the end of the term will be a class ahead of him for the teacher says Sam's poor reading does not allow his promotion. This is causing trouble between the brothers and giving their parents much anxiety.

"Why doesn't Sam learn as well as Joe? He has the same care; his teacher is so good to him, giving him extra help, and all that, and we try to help him at home. If this keeps up he won't even be able to go through high school and certainly he won't be able to go to college. Let him get a tool in his hand, no matter what, and he is all alive and right on the job. He is the home fixer, better than his father who is considered very effective with tools and machines. Accept Sam. Sam must be accepted as he is—a poor reader but a good technician in the making. What's wrong with a fine mechanic who can work with magic with a tool or a machine but dislikes reading because he has difficulty with it? It is good to know that Joe will not be in the same class as they are.

School Officer Blasts Government

Charges Duplicité in Dealing With Menominee

Madison — A ranking state school officer has charged the federal government with duplicity in its dealings with the Menominee Indian community and the state in the decision to terminate federal control and responsibility for the welfare of the Indian tribe.

The blistering attack came from Victor E. Kimball, a member of the Menominee Indian study committee and a deputy state superintendent of public instruction. Kimball said flatly that the national government has neglected the education of the Indians during the last several years.

Kimball's bitter complaint drew expressions of agreement from Atty. Gen. Reynolds, elected chairman of the state group which is trying to help the Indians prepare a "termination" plan and James Frechette of the tribal council, who is also a state commission member.

Subsidies Withdrawn
Noting that federal subsidies for the Indian schools under previous law have been withdrawn, and that promised substitute money has not been paid, Kimball looked at Frechette across the committee table and growled: "I don't know how you're managing to run your schools."

Frechette replied that he and other members of the reservation district school board are on the "verge" of resigning, and that the board has managed to pay its expenses only through the benevolence of a neighborhood banker who has extended credit.

Kimball returned to the theme again and again during the committee's deliberations. "Systematically Uncle Sam has slipped out, so that the federal government can have more time for Albania and Algeria, or anywhere else, but here in Wisconsin," he said sarcastically.

"I can't help agreeing with you," remarked Reynolds. He called the federal act terminating national government responsibility for the Menominees next year as a "dictatorial act," and said "Wisconsin has not been properly represented, either in the halls of Congress or on certain commissions."

One kitchen, for all its efficiency, hardly seems enough anymore for many homes. Family rooms especially like to locate some or all kitchen facilities within their own walls in an extra compact form, and while many of these conveniences build in, they can be had contained in independent units like this, to move in and out all in one piece.

The kitchen sketched includes a refrigerator, a sink, storage space and even good overhead lighting for it all in a strip under the unraised hood. It's designed to be either a second kitchen or the only one — the closed unit has a cabinet look that doesn't identify it as a kitchen. The black or beige is in harmony with many room schemes, and special colors can be ordered to fit the exact wall length in hand.

Mrs. A. W. G. "We bought a black and white tweed sofa of course you want to use and a black and white tweed rug for our living room, and on paper in diagram form to know there's something wrong with the way the color and the exact size and location worked out. The wall of the living room, then work are beige, two chairs are from your drawing with the beige and another has a red, cabinet builder, who will suggest green and gold pattern on the proportions of each beige. Tables are in light part according to your preferences and what you want to store."

Under the Snow

Now the cold white snow is everywhere
It drifts as the swift winds blow
It piles up high by the old rail fence
All the world is wrapped in snow

It covers the fields that once were green
The place that the crocus knew
The place where the larkspur bloomed and died
Where the fern and wild rose grew

It covers the streams that leaped with life
Now held in a cold gray hand
It covers haunts of the woodland deer
Winter is over the land

But under the snow lies eager life
Green grass and summer flowers
They wait for the touch of magic hands
Sunshine and gentle showers

They wait for the touch that brings new life
As sure as the rivers flow
Life that will gladden the hearts of men
Life that is under the snow

And over the wind swept fields of time
The land where weary feet tread
The deep snows of life cover the ground
All is the place of the dead

Under those snows there is hidden life
Gladness and music and peace
They come with the touch of friendly hands
Swift as the flight of wild geese

Savers and Spenders Wage Budget War

Democratic Policies Could Lead to Ten-Cent Dollar

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — The battle is on between the spenders and the savers. The Democratic party has taken its position in favor of an unbalanced budget, deficit spending, and policies that could lead to a 10-cent dollar.

The Democratic advisory council, in a statement unanimously approved by its members, claims that "the new Republican budget comes close to being a fraud on the American people. . . . the individual budget items and the related legislative program are an intricate combination of defeat, deception and denial."

This is strong language from Democrats who, during the 1952 presidential campaign, protested the alleged characterization of the Democratic party as the party of treason on the communist issue.

But apparently, in employing such words as fraud and deception in a description of the Republican party today, and particularly in applying the comment to a message delivered to congress by the president of the United States, no holds now are to be barred on the use of invective.

Among the listed sponsors of the statement of the Democratic advisory council are former President Truman and Adlai Stevenson, as well as Governors Williams of Michigan and Lawrence of Pennsylvania, and former Gov. Harriman of New York. Members of congress on the committee who approved the statement are Senators Ke-fauver of Tennessee and Humphrey of Minnesota.

Deny "Spenders" Tag Speaker Sam Rayburn of the house and Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson of the senate resent any implication that the Democratic party is the party of the spenders. Naturally, as southern conservatives, they oppose any such classification. But party policy apparently is being made by the Democrats from the north, where they have been winning their big majorities. Here is the Democratic party doctrine as the advisory council sees it:

"The new budget shows, above all, that in the GOP administration there are no modern Republicans and no conservative Republicans but only men who put pocketbook before people. This the people of the United States will surely remember. What is bad for people is also bad for pocketbooks, both private and public.

"Nothing better symbolizes Republican attitudes than the one big increase in the budget. That is for interest charges which rise from $7.5 billions in the present fiscal year to $8.1 billions in the next. This is exclusively the result of the increase in interest rates. The only people who benefit in a big way from the new budget are those who have money and lend it to the government."

Millions Buy Bonds But are the many millions of persons who buy government savings bonds to be persuaded in the future to buy them if the interest rates are presumably to be reduced—if the Democrats have their way—while the securities of well-established companies pay a much higher interest rate? The reason for the higher interest payments is that the national debt is increasing and investors are, in effect, demanding an interest rate on government bonds comparable to some degree with other bonds.

The statement goes on to lament the fact that the states and cities are assuming their local responsibilities and implies that, because they are increasing their debt, the federal government should do more and more to relieve them of their obligations. But the key paragraph in the statement about the budget reads as follows: "National defense outlays are reduced, and reduced even more when proper allowance is made for price changes."

What, indeed, is bringing about those price changes? Monopolistic power exercised by nation-wide unions which, by their extortions at the bargaining table, set the pattern that leaders of other unions feel they must match if they are to be reelected to their posts.

Favor Spending The Democratic party advisory council apparently favors more and more spending, more and more deficits, and more and more inflation. This, they argue, is what the people voted for last November. The Eisenhower administration disagrees and, if it is wrong in its fiscal policy, there will be a chance in 1960 to resolve the issue.

Meanwhile, there must be tens of millions of citizens whose income is from the money they have saved and invested or from retirement and pension funds. Also many millions of persons, including widows and orphans, are living on the proceeds of insurance policies. These and others on fixed incomes may soon have to decide where the deception begins and ends as they try to compare the purchasing power of their dollar today with what it will be in November, 1960, if the budget isn't balanced.

To Your Good Health Dr. Molner Discusses Various Types of Health Insurance

By Joseph G. Molner, M. D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Perhaps you can help me. This may be a very common partridge, but I'm wondering. We have a family doctor for whom we have much faith and respect. In our family of seven, we have at times needed surgery."

"Our doctor Dr. Molner puts us in the hospital, is in the operating room, and all we give him our insurance forms to fill out. Sometimes we receive a bill the first of the month, and sometimes not."

"Now here is my problem: We always receive a bill from another doctor, the surgeon, and that bill usually is a whopper. Is this the usual practice? Should part of our insurance have gone to him? Am I obligated to this other doctor? Or is my doctor obligated to share the insurance with him and have me pay the balance?—D. L."

There are different kinds of insurance. The Blue Cross-Blue Shield type is what you call of service policy. The Blue Cross, of course, is just hospital charges; Blue Shield is for the medical and surgical service, which is provided by the doctor, not by the hospital. (This is true in most instances, at any rate.)

From such a policy, the hospital and doctor report what service they gave you; in turn, they receive payment. You don't get any money yourself. (In many instances—and this will vary in degree from state to state—you may or may not have some additional payment to make directly.)

Types of Policies That's the service-type of policy. The other is the indemnity-type, and the insurance company contracts to pay to you, in money, a specified sum depending on what kind of policy you have, how long you are ill, and what the illness is. In that case it is up to you to pay the bills yourself, from the money you receive. (Of course, it is also possible to "sign over" the insurance directly to the doctor, and this sometimes is done. If the insurance money is not adequate to pay the whole cost, you owe the difference.

Now, then, for the other aspect of your question. Your doctor is in the operating room—but you get a bill from the surgeon.

That is as it should be. In repairing your house, you may hire one man to paint, another to fix the roof, a third to do carpentry. The contractor makes a single charge to you, covering all of these varied tasks.

But we believe that where your health is concerned, it is only right that you, the patient, should deal directly with the doctor or surgeon, with no "third party" or "contractor" intervening.

Why Direct Dealing Surgery isn't like house repairs. The patient, under anesthesia, can't even see what is going on. So your surgeon must be trustworthy and you must trust him.

An added reason for this direct dealing and direct billing is to avoid what is known as "fee-splitting," in which a doctor who "finds" a surgical case gets a "kickback" of money if he directs the patient to a surgeon who is willing to enter into such a deal. Fee-splitting is not only a violation of medical ethics; it is in conflict with some of our laws.

I've abbreviated this subject, I dare say; it's a complex matter to discuss. But I hope I've given you the basic principles involved, to which I will add this: There is absolutely nothing wrong in a patient asking the doctor or surgeon: "How much will this cost?"

Talk things out frankly and reasonably. There is no other way of avoiding misunderstandings, and no physician should resent questions about such things.

Republicans Outnumbered

Draheim's Authority Nominal as Legislature's Finance Chairman

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Madison — As head of the important legislative joint finance committee, Sen. W. A. Draheim, Neenah, holds a position resembling that of the captain of an athletic team who has a crop of new and untied players, not all of whom are sure they want to follow the leader.

Draheim will preside this year over a committee of 14 members which will attract more attention than any other in the capitol, because issues of taxation and financing will dominate all others before the new administration and the new legislature.

But his position and authority will be nominal. As a Republican, Draheim will be the lead man on a committee which has a majority of Democratic members, most of whom are virtually certain to have views basically differing from his own admittedly conservative outlook.

8-6 Split

The odd combination of a Republican chairman of a Democratically controlled committee arises out of the division of power in the legislature this year.

Assembly Speaker George Molinaro, a Democrat, wanted to make certain of control of the committee by his party, in order to avoid defeats or stalemates of important Democratic measures and fiscal proposals of Gov. Gaylord Nelson, also a Democrat.

He named seven Democrats Royal Myhill of the county and two Republicans from the assembly to the lower house wing of the committee to provide that assurance.

The Republicans who controlled the senate countered by naming four Republicans to the committee in 1957. Sen. out of five senators chosen for the committee, to provide a division of eight to six.

GOP More Experienced

While the Democrats will have the advantage of numbers on the key committee, the Republicans will have an advantage drawn from previous service there and longer experience.

Only one Democrat has had any previous contact with state appropriations and tax affairs. He is Sen. Lynn Stalder, Racine, who served on the committee in 1957. Sen. Huijbregste, Sheboygan, Sen. Dempsey, Hartland, and Assemblyman Emil Hinz, Merrill, besides Chairman Draheim, have participated in liberations in earlier years.

The house Democratic leadership chose Assemblyman Fred Risser, Madison, for the leadership of the assembly wing of the committee, with some reservations.

He is one of the younger members of the house, at 31, and is beginning his second term. But he has the complete confidence of Gov. Nelson, as well as the Madison liberal leadership of the party.

Huge Gap

Other assembly members will be wholly new to their job, which promises to be more difficult than in ordinary times because of the huge gap between appropriation demands, and expected tax receipts, and the inevitable clashes later in the year when a tax program is evolved.

They include Mogilka, Milwaukee, who is a member of the city's legal staff in his spare time; Riehle, a Marathon county farmer; Cosgrove, a Richland Center insurance salesman; Warren, a Racine factory worker; Collins, a young Milwaukee lawyer; Cates, a Madison lawyer and former assistant district attorney, and Norton, a Kenosha lawyer.

Bar Owner Frightens Away Burglar

proprietor of Pete's tavern here, apparently thwarted a break-in early Saturday morning.

Hintz told Police Chief Ken Thompson he was finishing up work after closing the tavern when he heard noises in the back of the building.

He called out, "Who's there?" When there was no answer he investigated and found the screen door and rear door broken open. The screen had been pulled off the building and the casing on the main door shoved in.

Chief Thompson, Sheriff Ray Abrahamson and Capt. Royal Myhill of the county patrol are seeking the frightened burglar.

Nelson Wants Revision of Tax System

Says He Will Work On Plan Submitted By Citizens Group

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — Gov. Nelson said today he hopes to achieve a complete revision of the state and local tax system in Wisconsin and that he will urge the legislature to accept any "reasonably palatable" plan that is brought out by a citizen's commission. The group will be chosen later in the year.

The governor talked about his fiscal plan at a press conference at the capital this morning, the first he has since he was sworn into office early this month.

Nelson also said:

1. He does not believe the idea of a toll road in Wisconsin is necessarily dead.
2. He will present his budget message to the legislature Thursday, basing it on one year of spending, with a token budget for the second year of the biennial. It will be modified later in the year when he works out a revision of tax laws.

Tax Revisions

3. With the help of the state department of taxation he will probably bring to the legislature a series of tax revision bills immediately that will raise current tax yields somewhat.

4. He has asked the state highway department to work out plans for a bigger highway construction program, preliminary to his own submission of a first state highway bond issue to the legislature.

Nelson commented on the selection of a panel of University of Wisconsin professors to handle the research for a tax impact study which he has launched.

After the technical material has been selected, he will ask a "broadly based citizens commission" to study tax revision and to make recommendations to him. He said the commission will be asked to study the Wisconsin tax problems in all its tax aspects, not only the need for more state and local money but also such factors as tax equity and stability.

He hopes he can accept its report and will call the legislature into session late in the year.

Courses, Tuition Set For Xavier High School

Charges Will be $75 Per Semester for Students From Parishes in Appleton

Courses to be offered and tuition rates have been announced for Xavier Catholic High school by the Most Rev. Stanislaus V. Bona, bishop of the Catholic diocese of Green Bay.

The information was distributed Sunday morning in a brochure at all five Catholic parishes in Appleton.

Four basic courses of study will be offered — classical, scientific, commercial and technical — to meet requirements of professional, liberal arts, business and technical colleges. Each of the curricula fulfills the basic entrance requirements of most colleges.

year to enact it if it is reasonably palatable, he said.

Nelson warned that his budget this week will reduce spending "below what most citizens probably want," but said he has no alternative in view of the shortage of state revenue when measured against expenditure demands.

On the question of toll roads, Nelson said he believes there may be a possibility of charging partial tolls on some new main line highways in Wisconsin, especially those entering the northern Wisconsin vacation country. He said he is having the highway commission investigate the feasibility of what he calls subsidized toll roads—which would be financed in part by user charges and in part by general highway taxes.

As soon as feasible, application will be made to the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, Wisconsin Department of Education, National Catholic Education association and Christian Brothers Education association for recognition standing.

The brochure states a rounded program of extra curriculars will be organized as need and interest develop in such fields as dramatics, forensics, music, arts, Catholic action, athletics and journalism.

Xavier High school will open in September for freshmen and sophomores from the five parishes in Appleton. Students from other parishes adjacent to the city may attend if there is room, but tuition for these pupils will be $150 per semester.

Franciscan Sisters of Manitowish will teach in the girls' department and Christian brothers of St. Louis province will teach in the boys' department.

Man Fined for Topsy Driving

Leon J. Johnson Also Pays on Hit, Run Charge

Leon J. Johnson, 31, 811 Sherry street, Neenah, pleaded guilty of both drunken driving and hit-and-run driving before Police Justice E. P. Arpin, Neenah, this morning. He was fined $100 and his license was revoked for a year on the drunken driving charge. He was fined $15 for hit-and-run driving.

He was arrested after an accident at 11:45 p.m. Saturday when he turned the corner from N. Commercial street onto W. Wisconsin avenue in Neenah and struck a panel truck driven by Fred H. Popp, 218 Second street, Neenah, waiting at the traffic light. A policeman who witnessed the accident got a nearby car to follow Johnson's car after he left the accident scene.

$300,000 Loss In Huge Fire at Shopping Center

Milwaukee — Fire caused $300,000 damage at the suburban Bay Shore shopping center Saturday night, burning out four stores and damaging three others.

Fire Chief Francis Sievers of Glendale, said that because of the huge loss he was considering asking a state fire marshal to make an investigation to determine the exact cause of the fire.

Sievers said the flames apparently got their start in an unoccupied store being remodeled for a new tenant.

Sievers, who made the damage estimate, said the fire was concentrated in the storage areas at the rear of the stores.

March of Dimes Charity Ball Set For Wednesday

The March of Dimes Charity Ball will be held Wednesday evening at the Appleton Elks' club to raise additional funds for the drive, according to Tom Schneider and Ora Luebben, city drive co-chairmen.

The dance will be from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m. Admission is free. Proceeds from the sale of refreshments, donated by Appleton business firms, will be turned over to the March of Dimes.

"Our goal is to double last year's contributions," said Luebben, "in an effort to raise the amount needed by the National Foundation's expanded program for polio victims, arthritic children under 18, plus research in the fields of virus diseases, birth defects, arthritis and disorders of the central nervous system."

Words Often Misused: Do not say, "I visited with my neighbors last night." Omit "with."

Often Mispronounced: Un-frequented. Accent is on THIRD syllable, not the second.

Often Misspelled: Cast (to throw). Caste (class of society).

Today's word: decimate; to take the tenth part of; to select by lot and punish with death every tenth man of; hence, to destroy a large part of. (Pronounce dec-i-mate, accent first syllable). "Both forces were decimated in the bloody battle."

Man Found Dead in Car

74-Year-Old Taken Life; Discovered By Son-in-Law

Daniel Janssen, 74, route 1, Kaukauna, was found dead about 7:30 a.m. today in a car by his son-in-law, Anthony Van Dyke, with whom he lived.

Janssen had been despondent since a cancer operation last fall. Dr. J. L. Benton, deputy county coroner, ruled that Janssen had taken his own life and that death was caused by carbon monoxide poisoning.

Van Dyke told police the family had watched television until after midnight. Janssen apparently went to the garage when the rest of the family went to bed. His bed was not slept in.

Van Dyke discovered the body when he went to get the car this morning. The garage doors were closed, the ignition was on and the car motor had stopped.

Janssen was born Oct. 17, 1884, in the town of Harrison, Calumet county. He lived most of his life in Combined Locks, where he worked for the Combined Locks Paper company. He retired three years ago.

Funeral services will be at 10 a.m. Wednesday at Holy Cross Catholic church, Kaukauna, with burial in the parish cemetery. Friends may call at the Fargo Funeral home, Kaukauna, after 2 p.m. Tuesday where the rosary will be said at 8 p.m. Tuesday.

A Plaque Memorializing Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, Congressman Reid F. Murray and Congressional Medal of Honor Winner Melvin Handrich was unveiled during the dedication of the addition at Manawa High school where all attended school. 3 Famed Manawa High Graduates Honored at Dedication Program

Manawa — "Memories of the noble, fearless men we honor today will always be with us" said Mayor Charles Hoffmann Sunday afternoon during memorial dedication services for three deceased Manawa High school graduates, Sen. Joseph McCarthy, Congressman Reid F. Murray and Sgt. Melvin O. Handrich.

Their names were memorialized on a brass-plated, monogram plaque.

Help Others

Congressman Murray, who graduated from Manawa in 1907, was described as a person of rare wit and homespun philosophy by Carl Sturm. A close friend, Sturm said the congressman believed seeds of both success and failure are planted in all and that Murray had tried to bring out the best in himself to help others.

"Manawa, its school, and our country are better places to live because of Murray's 14 years as seventh district congressman," said Sturm.

In response to the eulogy, Murray's son, Hyde, stated that teachers, Manawa residents and newspaper clippings had influenced his father's life. Murray's son is a Washington attorney and assistant on the house agricultural committee.

Sen. McCarthy's pledge to uphold the constitution made him one of the most controversial figures of his day, stated L. D. Hershberger, Manawa principal at the time of McCarthy's graduation in 1930. Although censured by his fellow legislators, McCarthy's fight against communism goes on today while his memory continues to grow, said Hershberger.

A letter from Mrs. Jean McCarthy said "she was proud to have Joe's name inscribed and that his success was a direct result of Man-

Non-Farm Job Harder to Find In '58 Than '57

Total Applicants at WSES About Same, But Placements Drop

It was harder to find a non-farm job in Outagamie and Waupaca counties last year than the year before, year-end records at Wisconsin State Employment Service in Appleton show.

The WSES helped 1,423 people find work in non-farm fields and 148 in farm jobs, compared to 1,698 in non-farm and 39 in strictly farm jobs in 1957.

At the same time, applicants for aid numbered about the same, 4,946 last year and 5,048 the year before.

As always, the trained office worker can have a job for the asking, Fred R. Gehrke, WSES manager, reports. Otherwise "indications are

Pleads Innocent Of Non-Support

Earl Buchman, 40, 1108 N. Union street, pleaded innocent in municipal court Friday to non-support.

He posted $1,000 bond for trial April 27. The charge was brought by his first wife, Eunice.

Pays $10 Fine

Earl J. Timm, 40, 1358 W. Commercial street, was fined $10 in municipal court today for ignoring a traffic signal.

There will be no great increase in employment in the foreseeable future," Gehrke says.

Some recall of laid-off workers, particularly in the textile industry, is expected, however, in the next few months.

"Generally, there will be a more favorable atmosphere for industry and job-seekers this year than last," Gehrke says.

At last count, the Appleton WSES office had 2,047 applicants on its books and 60 job openings.

At the same time a year ago, there were 1,636 applicants and 68 jobs.

Sears Employee Fund Hit Record High in Assets

A record high in assets of more than a billion dollars has been reached by the savings and profit sharing pension fund of Sears Roebuck and company employees.

The Sears fund total is estimated at $1,061,764,000, according to James M. Barker, chairman of the fund's board of trustees. He added that to achieve this billion dollars in assets, the present members of the fund have invested $141,054,000 from their wages and salaries. The balance of $920,710,000 has come from contributions out of profits, investment income and appreciation in value of the fund's investments.

Approximately 74 per cent of the fund's assets are invested in Sears stock. These holdings amount to over 10 million shares and represent 26 per cent of the stock outstanding. The fund is the largest single stockholder of Sears.

The other fund assets are invested in the stock of 114 diversified companies and in

Bandit Takes $320 From Service Station

A gunman, apparently with an accomplice, took a reported $320 in cash from the operator of a filling station on Shawano avenue, west of the city limits early this morning.

The victim of the robbery, Gene Layton, told Sheriff Artley Skenandore that the robber approached from behind as he was unlocking the station shortly before 6 a.m.

The bandit took the money, which Layton had carried to the station in a cardboard box, then locked Layton in a back room.

The robber is described as about 24 or 25 years old, about six feet tall, weighing around 200 pounds, and of dark complexion. He was said to be wearing an army fatigue jacket and a dark green cap.

Fought in Civil War Governor's Grandfather Born, Farmed, Died in Fox Cities Area

Madison — The installation of a new governor of Wisconsin has revived the story of a Wisconsin farm youth who suffered and narrowly escaped death through service in the Union army during the Civil war nearly a century ago.

He was Sheldon Elisha Bradt of Rushford township in western Winnebago county, whose grandson is Gaylord Nelson, the 35th governor of Wisconsin.

Bradt was a 16 year old private in a Wisconsin company when he took part in a bloody battle at Allatoona pass and was captured by Confederate troops and made prisoner.

Like many other Union prisoners in Confederate camps, the young soldier suffered terribly, lost 100 pounds in seven weeks of confinement, and was given up for dead when he was finally exchanged and returned to Union hands.

Waupaca Homestead
The sturdy farm youth recovered, however, returned to his Wisconsin farm home and a few years later settled down on his own Waupaca county homestead in the town of Mukwa, near the present city of New London.

There he married Nora O'Brien, thought to be the first white child born in what is now Waupaca county, according to an account currently distributed by the State Historical society of Wisconsin.

Their daughter became the mother of Gov. Nelson, who was born in 1916.

Rowe Doubts Hawaii Loss if No Statehood

Doesn't Expect
Switch to Orient

Neenah — Hawaiians want to become the 50th state and plebiscites have been overwhelmingly in favor of statehood, Dr. Chandler W. Rowe, Lawrence college anthropology and sociology professor who recently spent a year in Hawaii, told the Neenah Rotary club.

He agreed with a questioner that Hawaii might lose in its statehood bid because of opposition of southern legislators who oppose it for racial reasons.

Hawaiians do not vote as a race in elections and he took issue with a recent magazine article which stated the Hawaiians might turn to the Orient if they lost another statehood bid.

"Hawaii is so closely allied with the United States that you do not feel you are in a foreign country," he continued. "The Oriental people there have very few, if any, ties with their homeland. There was not one act of sabotage or disloyalty shown by any of the Oriental people during World War II and the Niseis fought well in Europe."

Racial Intermingling
He pointed to the intermingling of races so that Chinese and Japanese may have Welsh or German ancestry and Hawaiians may be part Portuguese. It is hard to tell what racial groups people belong to, the Lawrence college professor added.

Most people think of Hawaii as a vacation spot yet the tourist trade is only the fourth largest industry, amounting to $65 million in 1956. The military is the largest with $324 million, sugar is second with $147 million and pineapples are third with $116 million in income.

The cost of living is 25 percent higher in Honolulu than here and even higher at Waikiki beach, he pointed out in saying the average weekly wage is $61.58. In 85 percent of the homes both parents work but there is very little juvenile delinquency as the Honolulu police force is very efficient.

Pay Same Taxes
Hawaiians pay the same federal taxes as those in the United States but have no voice in how the money is to be spent. You hear the Revolutionary war cry of "Taxation Without Representation" frequently in Hawaii, he told the Rotarians.

Statehood would give them a full vote in the house and senate, a right to vote for the President and the right to vote for local judges and on constitutional amendments.

Dr. Rowe also told of the history of Hawaii and about its climate which he described as ideal.

Sewing Craze Spreads to Stars

BY DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

"So glad you like it, dear. I made it myself."

Gypsy Rose Lee speaking, preening in a smart new gown that looks like the latest thing from Paris.

"Of course I know how to sew," remarks the famous strip tease, movie star, author and art connoisseur. "Doesn't everybody?"

Right now it looks as if everybody really does, as the home-sewing craze spreads to the upper echelons of stage, screen and television. Among glamor girls who sew their own nowadays are such luminaries as: Celeste Holm, pert and highly sophisticated actress and night club singer; Loretta Young, star of movies and TV; Gail Storm, television headliner; Betty Furness, also of TV fame; and the chic Dorothy Rodgers, wife of composer Richard Rodgers, to name a few.

The beautiful Gypsy is an old hand with the needle and thread. She sews everything from dresses to slipcovers and from skirts to hats. On a recent movie location job she took over the job of wardrobe mistress for the cast, when no local dressmakers could be found. Right now she's engaged in a project of making skirts out of antique patchwork quilts for herself and her equally glamorous sister, actress June Havoc. Says she:

Breeze to Sew
"It's a breeze to make smart clothes nowadays, when you can get Paris designs in home-sewing patterns. Anybody should be able to make a dress, if she knows how to read and use a sewing machine. As my 13-year-old son would say, it's so simple even parents can do it."

"Of course, I have a figure problem — I'm five feet nine and a half, 38-24-38, and my waist is two inches longer than any dress you can buy. I have to alter my patterns, but that's easy too — easier than trying to stretch the waist length of a ready-made dress."

"I can make a dress in a day. I get up early in the morning and I don't stop until it's done."

Celeste Holm says she has been turning out dresses since her doll-clothes days.

Daughter of a designer, she learned the fine points of sewing as a school-girl in France. And busy as she is, she still finds time to make a dress or two each season and to design her own night club and stage costumes. Now on a pre-Broadway tour of the Theatre Guild's production of the new comedy, "The Third Best Sport," Celeste says:

Best Fabrics
"Any woman who knows her own figure and knows what she wants can get more for her money if she sews her own. She can afford the best fabrics and make her clothes with a custom fit. My latest home-sewn favorite is a simple straight sheath in the most beautiful Italian silk in the world — aquamarine. I've never had so many compliments on a dress, and I expect to be wearing it for years."

Mrs. Rodgers, who could barely turn up a hem until a few years ago, now makes not only dresses but also slacks — a major test of sewing skill. In addition she has invented a new type of basic pattern that can be used many times without tearing. Made of a soft, drapable, non-woven cotton that won't stretch or shrink, it can be stitched on the machine and ironed, so that a woman who takes the trouble to alter patterns to her exact measurements can re-use the same basic, perfectly fitting pattern many times. Executives of McCall's patterns thought so highly of Mrs. Rodgers' invention that they gave it a name — "Try-On Pattern" — and recently put it on the market.

"It's wonderful to fall in love with a piece of fabric," says the tall, slim and modish Mrs. Rodgers, "and to know that you can make it into whatever you choose. I think I really started making clothes because I never could buy a pair of slacks that were long enough. Now I have slacks that fit — I make them myself."

Newborn Baby Not Very Beautiful, Does Not Look Like Advertising Layouts

By Dorothy V. Whipple, M.D.
AP Newfeatures

Mighty few people ever see a brand new baby. Even mothers, who are right there in the delivery room, are usually so knocked out with an anesthetic that they do not know what goes on. Hours, or sometimes even a whole day, later the nurse brings in a well-wrapped bundle with a tiny face in the middle. Some brave young mothers unwrap the face and take a look, but many others are terrified of the starved nurses and wait until they get home to get acquainted with their own child.

People who have had no contact with very young babies — and this often includes (young mothers-to-be) are apt to imagine a newborn like pictures glamorizing advertising copy. Sometimes such folk have a rude and disappointing awakening when they finally see their own babe — even if he is a whole 24 hours old.

He's No Beauty

The truth is a newborn baby is not very beautiful and it's better to know this ahead of time. He will become a lot more beautiful in just a few weeks.

At the moment of birth a baby is wet and slippery, his body is covered with a white cheesy substance called vernix. This material will from birth you can see they dry to a chalky whiteness and wear off in a day or two. It is left on the skin because it newborns have an individual is a good protective coating. There is a trickle of fluid coming from his mouth. His color is a grayish white, which becomes bluer until he gasps his first breath as he lets out his own cry. Respiration is then established, fully at first, they feel loose. In a day or two then more regularly and the in the nursery you can pick baby pinks up.

The newborn's head seems low for their food with an every big for his small body, ergy that is astounding. The face is wrinkled and wrinkery muscle in their tight little, the chin fades away in the bodies takes part in the to his short neck, his nose demand that something be may be flattened against his done about the pain in their face, sometimes his head is a middle.

bit lopsided. Often his head is covered with dark coarse hair; sometimes the hair covers a good bit of his body. His legs are small and bowed, his genitals seem large in proportion to the rest of him.

Little Fat

At birth babies have very little fat. It is the pads of fat under the skin which give month-old babies their round attractive appearance. The one place where a newborn usually does have fat pads is in the cheeks. These pads are most useful in sucking. Premature babies (those born ahead of time) have even less fat than full-term ones. As a result they are even more wizened in their appearance. Post-term infants on the other hand are better filled out.

All newborns, regardless of their hereditary background, have smoky gray eyes; pigment develops later if they come from a dark-eyed family.

Each is Different
You might think these helpless little mites would be more or less alike. But this is far from the truth. Anyone who sees and handles many babies, even in their first 24 hours, knows there is a vast difference from baby to baby.

They all, of course, share qualities of newness, but right the vernix. This material will from birth you can see they dry to a chalky whiteness and wear off in a day or two. Winchester 4-H Club Picks New Officers

Hears Talk on Spain by Farm Exchange Student

Winchester — Donald Reetz was elected president of the Winchester 4-H club at its meeting Thursday night at Grace Lutheran church. Also elected were Joan Hanson as vice president, Sue Christianson as secretary, Sandra Cizek as treasurer and Donald Marks as reporter.

William Thiesenhusen, a former Waukesha county 4-H member, spoke on his experiences in Spain last summer as an international farm youth exchange student. He has completed 10 years in 4-H work and was a national winner in the 4-H garden project in 1954 and a national citizenship winner in 1955.

Spain once was a world power but now is a mere skeleton of its former self, he told the group. "Spain is a land of contrasts. Everywhere you see evidences of an unkind history blending into what you hope will be a more benevolent future."

He called it a country of very rich and very poor, lacking a large middle class. Thiesenhusen told the 4-H members of the types of crops and farms he had seen during his five months with the Spanish people and of the work being done by the government to improve farming conditions.

"They're a happy and proud people. And they're independent and naturally optimistic," he said of the Spanish.

2 Oshkosh Area Residents Hurt In 1-Car Mishap

Walters, who was traveling north, was charged with driving too fast for conditions. Authorities said the car traveled 174 feet from the time it left the road until it came to rest on its side. It was a total wreck.

Fined for Driving Without License

Oshkosh — Elmer L. Czoschke, 55, Winnebago, was fined $50 and costs and given a mandatory 60-day jail term by Municipal Judge S. J. Luchsinger in municipal court this morning for driving after the revocation of his license for a previous drunken driving charge.

Czoschke, who was arrested for tipsy driving on County Trunk A in the town of Oshkosh Jan. 18, was fined $100 and costs the next day in municipal court. At that time he admitted that he had lost his license for a similar offense about a year ago.

Nervousness Can Interfere With Digestion

by Upton K. Farman
Chiropractor, Neenah

You have often noticed complete loss of appetite when excited, tired, worried, or under some emotional strain. Nature does not want you to eat at such times as the nervous disturbance has upset the delicate nerve mechanism which controls the chemistry and process of digestion.

Interference with the transmission of nervous energy from some spinal misplacement will likewise effect digestion and in turn be responsible for many digestive disturbances such as gas pains, bloating, heartburn, nausea, vomiting and ulcers.

The controlling force carried by nerves from the brain through the spine to all parts of the body is generally spoken of as nature. The chiropractor's examination is largely confined to the spine because he is trying to find what is preventing nature from curing. The chiropractor locates and removes the nerve interference, thereby allowing nature to correct many types of digestive disturbances.

Rockets Surprise Indian Five 69-67

NHS Leads by 12 at Half but Is Deadlocked in 4th Frame; 1st Home Loss in 28 Games

Shawano — Neenah's swiftly-improving Rockets dealt Shawano's championship hopes a severe jolt and did their own upclimb no harm ahead for keeps. There were 42 seconds left at the time. At the 28 second mark, Kuehl made a free throw and 18 seconds later Jack Ankerson added another. Timm scored on a drive in just before the horn sounded.

Control Boards

The Rockets controlled the boards throughout. Ron Hoppe, Shawano's only tall boy, picked up four fouls early, sat out the third period and finally fouled out.

Unofficially, the Red and White hit 48 per cent of their field goal attempts on 27 for 56 with 16 for 29 in the first half and 11-27 in the second. The visitors shot well over Shawano's zone, especially Kuehl. Shawano wasn't exactly cool either, hitting 45 per cent on 29 for 65.

From the free throw line, the Twin Cities had 15 for 24 or the Indians' 9-14.

Three Neenah scorers were in the double figures, paced by Halverson's 18. Kuehl and Ankerson made 17. Ketchenago topped Shawano with 21 and Timm had 17. The Indians played without starter Guy Booth, who was home in bed with the "flu".

Big 2nd Quarter

A big second quarter sped the Rockets to a 12-point halftime lead. They saw their advantage reduced to six after three periods and, after the score was tied three times in the fourth quarter, they hit four free throws within a 30-second space to emerge triumphantly.

Neenah hurried to an 11-3 lead but Shawano's Ron Ketchenago made five straight baskets to speed the Indians to a 17-13 first period edge.

The second frame was all Neenah. The visitors tallied 26 points to Shawano's 10 for a 39-27 halftime score. The hosts had a 23-22 lead when, paced by John Halverson, the Rockets erupted for 11 straight tallies.

NHS Lead Melts
Neenah was outscored 22-16 in the third period to melt its lead to 55-49 going into the final eight torrid minutes. With six minutes left, the score was 61-52 but Shawano came up with an 8-point string, six by Phil Timm, for a 61-61 tie with 3:40 left.

Sophomore Paul Felton, one of the stars in Friday's overtime win over Menasha, can meet on a jump shot but Ron Hoppe matched it with a hooker for a 63-61 score. Bill Kuehl and Ketchenago exchanged baskets for a 65-61 deadlock.

Shawano missed a shot and Halverson picked up the loose ball and flipped a long pass to Felton, who was fouled. The sophomore made two free throws to put Neenah

Two Rivers Downs Jays 61-51, Aided by Third Period Spurt

Menasha Loses Field Goal on Freak Play in Final Quarter

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Menasha — An early third quarter spurt, which netted eight straight points at a time when Menasha was battling its way back into contention, helped Two Rivers to a 61-51 win over the Bluejays here Saturday night.

The win, coupled with Shawano's loss to Neenah, put Two Rivers in a second place tie with the Indians, two games behind unbeaten Kimberly. Menasha now has a 1-7 Mid-Eastern conference mark.

Menasha went into the dressing room at halftime trailing 23-19. It was in arrears 11-10 at the quarter and, after leading 17-16, saw the Raiders chalk up seven of the last nine points of the second period to take a 4-point advantage.

Narrow Spread

Two Rivers made the first goal of the third quarter but buckets by Bill Ritchie and Dave Ristau put the hosts within two points at 25-23.

Then the Raiders' Dick Knope hit on two drive-in shots, Don Koprowski tallied from the side and Dale Kozlowski made good on a short toss to shove the visitors in front 33-23. They maintained the 10-point spread (40-30) at the close of the frame.

Menasha outscored its guests 6-2 in the first two minutes of the last quarter to get the difference down to six. The Jays were down by a half a dozen when they were involved in a situation which might well have been the turning point of the game.

Disputed Play

The score was 44-38 with a little better than four minutes left to play when Two Rivers' Koprowski received a free throw on what was Menasha's fifth foul of the half.

The Two Rivers junior connected but the officials didn't signify the bonus and the Jays quickly took the ball out of bounds, hastened down court and Tom Stepanski made a basket.

About this time the officials got the information via the scoring table and Two Rivers' bench that Koprowski should have had another free throw attempt. The arbiters agreed and Menasha's basket was nullified. The Raider shooter missed the charity attempt.

but his team made a quick goal to lead by nine. The Jays didn't get any closer than seven after that and Two Rivers' widest lead was 15 points.

Knope Hits 23

Scoring honors went to Knope with 23 points. Kozlowski followed with 15, all in the second half. Ristau had 12 and Jim Stenson 11 for Menasha. Stenson and Russ Wendt sparked the hosts in their 21-point fourth quarter. Wendt had eight tallies and Stenson seven in that frame.

Unofficially, Menasha made 20 of 52 field goal attempts for 38 per cent to the winners' 25 for 69 and 36 per cent. The Raiders did well on the free throw line, making 11 of 16. The Jays had a poor 11 for 32. Both teams only had one foul in the first quarter and Two Rivers didn't get a bonus shot for 34 periods.

John McHale Will Become Braves' General Manager

Young Executive Leaves Tigers After 18 Years To Succeed John Quinn

Milwaukee — (P) John McHale of the Detroit Tigers — one of the youngest top executives in baseball — will take over the general manager-ship for the Milwaukee Braves.

McHale, 37, announced his surprise decision Sunday after meeting with Braves' owner Lou Perini and Executive Vice President "Birdie" Tebbetts. "It definitely is a case of the job seeking the man and not the man seeking the job," Perini said.

McHale, in leaving the American league club where he was named general manager early in 1957, replaces John Quinn, who resigned to accept a similar position with the Philadelphia Phillies.

Topped Candidates "McHale was at the top of our list of candidates for the general manager's job," Tebbetts said. "When Quinn resigned we knew that we had to replace him with a top man. We looked around and decided that McHale was our man."

"I see it as a bigger job — a chance to expand myself and also to make more money," McHale said.

McHale earned an estimated $30,000 with Detroit. Tebbetts said McHale would work for the Braves without a contract. There was no hint at McHale's salary.

Tebbetts added that McHale would have all the du-

Quinn Farewell Steals Show At Banquet

Outgoing Executive Gets Only Standing Ovation of Evening

BY CHUCK CAPALDO Milwaukee — (P) John Quinn, the Milwaukee Braves' outgoing general manager, received a heartwarming, spontaneous farewell Sunday night.

The ramrod-straight baseball executive, who quit the Braves Jan. 13 to accept a similar post with the Philadelphia Phillies, was on the receiving end of an outgoing tribute and a sterling silver punch bowl.

The occasion was the sixth annual Diamond dinner of the Milwaukee Chapter of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Added Starter Quinn's resignation caught the writers while they were making last-minute arrangements for the celebration. He was, in effect, an added starter.

Pitchers Warren Spahn and Carl Willey and Team President Joseph Caines were feted as the most valuable player, rookie of the year and the man who contributed the most to baseball in Milwaukee in 1958, respectively.

But it was Quinn who won the only standing ovation of the evening.

Braves owner Lou Perini, manager Fred Haney, Caines and others on the program extended tribute to the man generally credited with building the club into the National league power that it is.

"We're going to miss you, John," said Perini. "We love you."

UW Quintet Loses Another Member Madison — (P) — The University of Wisconsin basketball team, bottom club in the Big 10, suffered the loss of a third player over the week-end.

He had been used sparingly this season and scored only four points.

Earlier, Wisconsin lost center Ray Gross, who graduated at the end of the first semester, and guard Brian Kulas, who underwent an appendicitis operation.

ties that Quinn had and would also be responsible for player trades and contracts. Tebbetts said, however, that the brunt of the contract chores would fall on him this season because McHale has unfinished business in Detroit "and won't join the team for some time."

McHale spent 18 years with the Tigers. He started in professional baseball with Beaumont in the Texas league in 1941. He had his best season with Buffalo in 1945 when he hit .313 and collected 22 homers.

McHale subsequently worked himself up from the position of reserve first baseman to the Detroit general manager's position.

Lambeau Takes Home in Green Bay

Has Sought General Manager's Job, Not Interested in Coaching

BY ART DALEY Post-Crescent News Service

Green Bay — "Curly" Lambeau has moved back to Green Bay from the West coast. And he's interested in the general managership of the Packers.

Lambeau arrived over the weekend from Los Angeles, explaining "I'm closed up there now." He'll live in Green Bay in the winters and at his home in Door county in the summer.

On Their Own Lambeau had been the object of a recent public rally asking his return as general manager. The rally was promoted by Fritz Van, local radio announcer, in cooperation with Tom Atkinson, Cal Buehrer, Keith Van Vuren and several others.

"I have no connection with those people. They did that on their own," Curly said, adding: "I got especially interested

Salt used to melt snow on city streets gets into king bolts, causing corrosion. This makes hard steering. In the winter-time it's necessary to grease your car more often to keep the salt out. A Diehard Fan

John McHale Noted for Temper Flare-Ups, Get-Tough Policy

Detroit — John J. McHale is a hale and hearty young man of professional baseball. For the last two seasons it has been his duty to try and recover the fortunes of the American league Detroit Tigers.

He announced Sunday that he was leaving Detroit to join the National league champion Milwaukee Braves, where he would again be a general manager.

Only 37 years old, McHale is a native of Detroit, and was known as a diehard fan who threw chairs at writers in the press box when his team lost and danced a jig when they won.

McHale is a tall, rosy-cheeked fellow with a ready smile and firm, friendly handshake. He blushes easily.

He has had some difficult times controlling his temper since building a pennant-contending team in Detroit because his chief responsibility as a manager.

McHale played in the Tigers farm system but only briefly in the big leagues. McHale bounded into the Tigers' front office in 1948 and quickly rose through the ranks from assistant farm director to director, to assistant general manager to director of player personnel, then to general manager. His assignment as manager of the Tigers came early in 1957 when the team's new owners ousted Walter O. "Spike" Briggs, Jr.

McHale has some firm convictions about baseball, particularly the conduct of a general manager in the major leagues.

He rarely visited the Tiger club house because he felt it was players' territory and also doesn't believe in criticizing players publicly.

McHale said he was shocked by the easy manner in which many of the Detroit players have accepted mediocrity. He instituted a get-tough policy on player contracts once he took over as general manager.

He often complained that the Tigers never developed their farm system to the point where it could produce enough talent to make Detroit a genuine contender and blamed much of the club's troubles on a lack of drive and hustle by the players.

McHale goes from a club that has finished in the bottom half of the standings seven times in the last eight seasons to a team with two straight pennants and a world championship.

Tosa Rink Wins At Clintonville

Second Event Title Goes to Host Club's Oscar Schroeder

Clintonville — The Clark Whetter rink of Wauwatosa won the championship of the Clintonville invitational bonspiel by defeating the Earl Edwards rink of Wausau Sunday at the Clintonville Curling club. Sixteen rinks participated.

John DeVaud, general chairman of the bonspiel, presented the Whetter rink with the traveling trophy. Last year, it was won by the Dan Steinberg rink of Appleton.

In third place for the first event was the Bob Altman rink of Wausau, and fourth, the Dan Mullerkey rink of Wauwatosa.

Two Clintonville rinks took first and second places in the second event. In first place was the Oscar Schroeder rink, and second, the Cliff Mullerkey rink. Jenkins of Portage was third and Pope of Wauwatosa, fourth.

In the third event, it was the Jim Long rink, Clintonville, first; Guy Fandrey's rink, Clintonville, second; Steinberg, Appleton, third, and "Red" Hughes, Wauwatosa, fourth.

Trophies were awarded to the winners of each event. Merchandise prizes were also given.

Morrow Scores Triple Win in First Competition on Boards

Washington — Bobby Morrow heads into New York's Millrose games with a triple win to his credit in his first competition on the boards.

But he's still not convinced he'll ever become too fond of indoor running.

Morrow raced on a board track for the first time in the Evening Star games Saturday night and came through in great shape — sweeping the sprint series just to prove he's an out-front man on the indoor dashes.

But the 23-year-old Texan from Abilene Christian college made it clear he prefers the wide-open outdoors.

"The crowd here is right on top of you. You can't find a place to warm up — and the boards are hard on your legs," Morrow said before the games in the big Washington National Guard armory.

Morrow had won three 1958 Olympic gold medals, equaling the world's record at 9.3 in the 100 and won many outdoor titles before testing the hardwood.

He scored his triple victory by capturing the 70-yard dash in 7.2 seconds, the 80 in 8.1 and the 100 in 9.8.

However, he didn't match the U.S. records set by Duke's Dave Sime on the same track — the longest straightaway in indoor track.

"We're ahead now, but this race is just getting started," opined Fordy Anderson after his Spartans from Michigan State had subdued Minnesota Saturday night.

Michigan State dumped the Gophers, 82-76, at Minneapolis to take undisputed possession of first place in the Big Ten basketball struggle.

2 Road Wins

And the sturdy Spartans, who have won twice on the road after being surprised at Iowa City, might very well stay in first place the rest of the campaign.

Indiana (3-2), Northwestern (3-3) and Purdue (2-3) — the other pre-season picks — have shown weaknesses in the race which started and remains fast.

Illinois, currently tied with Michigan for second place with a 3-1 record, can move back into a first place tie with Michigan State tonight by beating Minnesota at Minneapolis.

The Illini, however, will have to show a lot more than they did at Chicago stadium Saturday night when they bowed to Notre Dame, 85-75.

Illini Coach Harry Combes didn't appear too worried over the loss and shrugged it off as something which he "expected." The game was Illinois' first since returning from mid-term examinations.

In other games Saturday, Northwestern edged Iowa, 99-96, in an overtime at Iowa City while Purdue disposed of invading Ohio State, 86-69.

Iowa, which plays at Ohio State in tonight's only other conference game, blew an 11-point lead to drop into a seventh place tie with Purdue. Both teams are 2-3.

Northwestern's Nick Mantis tied the game at 90-all on a layup with nine seconds to play and Floyd Campbell fired three long shots in the overtime to snap a 2-game losing streak.

Purdue had no trouble whatever with Ohio State. Willie Merriweather led the Boilermakers with 27 points. Joe Roberts was high for Ohio State with 24.

Kimberly Rally Thwarts Ghost Bid for Upset lead but Vanevenhoven scored a free throw to again tie the count.

Lamers scored two free throws to give the winners a 7-5 advantage, but then the Ghosts took over. A charity toss by Weyenberg, a jump shot by Jim Steger and a set shot by Vanevenhoven moved Kaukauna into a 10-7 lead before Don Hearden countered with a jump shot for Kimberly. Kaukauna scored the final four points of the quarter on a jump shot and layup by Vanevenhoven.

Matches Effort

The Papermakers were held scoreless for the first three minutes of the second quarter as Vanevenhoven hit a basket and free throw, Weyenberg matched the feat, Steger hit two free throws and Myron Zachowski hit a jump shot to give Kaukauna a 24-10 lead before Jansen hit for Kimberly. Weyenberg, Vanevenhoven and Zachowski tallied for Kaukauna in the closing minutes to enable the Ghosts to take a 30-19 halftime lead.

The losers outscored the Papermakers, 18-17, in the third period, but for the play of Jansen the score would have been worse as he tallied nine of the 17 points made by Kimberly, six coming on desperate drive-ins in the closing minutes. Each of his goals were matched by the Ghosts.

Fatal Period

The fourth quarter proved the undoing for Kaukauna as the team was able to tally only seven points while Kimberly chalked up 22. Jansen opened the fourth quarter scoring with a drive-in but Ken Kavanaugh tallied for the losers to make the score 50-38.

Mintin hit to cut the lead to 10 points but Kavanaugh again countered to give Kaukauna a 12-point edge. Kavanaugh hit again to make the score 54-40 with about five minutes remaining. Rooyackers tallied for the winners as the clock showed four minutes to play.

The Papermakers began a press, resulting in numerous jump balls and then made the height advantage pay off through gaining possession of the tips. Kaukauna was held scoreless for two minutes while Kimberly scored 10 points to cut Kaukauna's lead to 54-52.

Kavanaugh hit a free throw to increase the lead for Kaukauna before Jansen hit for Kimberly on a jump shot. Rooyackers scored on a jump shot with a minute to go as the Papermakers moved into the lead. Kimberly gained possession on a jump ball situation and clinched the game as Kaukauna fought to get the ball and fouled in the attempts.

Kaukauna had its best shooting percentage of the year making 19 of 40 shots for 48 per cent while Kimberly finished with 37 per cent. The Ghosts hit on 17 of 24 free throw attempts while Kimberly made good on 12 of 19 tries.

Jansen led the winners with 19 points while Vanevenhoven paced both teams with 21 tallies.

In the scoring duel between Don Hearden and Lee Weyenberg, No. 1 and 2 in league scoring, Weyenberg hit 14 while Hearden had six before fouling out in the final quarter.

you and we are going to pray for you. There isn't anybody who has been a greater credit to baseball than my friend John."

Haney echoed Perini's sentiments and noted the close cooperation that existed between him and Quinn on off-the-field business.

"It has been a happy family," Quinn said. "No wonder I've enjoyed every minute of my stay in Milwaukee. Naturally, I have regrets leaving the organization."

"If Birdie Tebbetts who was made executive vice president over Quinn after the 1958 World Series receives the same type of treatment from the organization and the fans, he'll be happy for many years to come," Quinn added.

Quinn then congratulated his former employer for their choice of John McHale to succeed him as general manager.

"I wish him all the luck in the world," Quinn said. "He's one of the finest young men in baseball."

Leo Durocher, colorful former major league manager and now a vice president of the National Broadcasting Co., was the principal speaker at the banquet.

Lakers Trim Bobcats Twice Before 8,038

BY LEE REMMEL
Post-Crescent News Service

Green Bay — Green Bay's slightly frustrated Bobcats couldn't be blamed today for wishing hockey games were only 50 minutes long, particularly two of recent and painful memory.

If they were, the local prides would have wrung a victory and a tie from their tight, fast-moving weekend series with the talented Warroad, Minn., Lakers, played before a pair of near capacity throngs at the Brown county Veterans Memorial arena.

Both were full length features, however, and the Lakers, erupting in the last 10 minutes of both games, emerged with a 5-2 decision Saturday night and followed with a harder earned 4-2 verdict Sunday afternoon.

Imposing Houses

Two imposing houses took in the festivities. Saturday night's crowd totaled 4,163 patrons. Sunday afternoon's house was 3,875 for a grand total of 8,038.

Primed for their guests, recent 7-1 conquerors of the United States Nationals and champions of the Ontario-Minnesota Hockey league, the Bobcats grabbed a quick 2-0 lead in the first period of Saturday night's game, then saw it disintegrate in the face of a 4-goal Laker explosion in the closing minutes.

The pattern, though similar, was varied in Sunday's match. The Bobcats, checking with more authority than in the opener, again claimed an early lead, 1-0, fell behind, 2-1, and tied it at 2-all in the second, then went scoreless in the final 20 minutes as Warroad found the range twice in the last 10.

Surprisingly, the home talent matched the veteran Minnesotans with both stick and skate for the most part but they couldn't solve the Lakers' tight-fisted goalie, "Sugar" Jim Henry, the real hero of both pieces for the Lakers.

71 Shots

The former New York Ranger and Boston Bruin, still amazingly agile at 38, was peppered in both games but brushed off a total of 71 shots in those six periods with an aplomb that bordered nonchalance.

Bobcat netminders Jack Hoppe and Tom Tochterman kicked out 32 shots between them in Saturday night's game and Hoppe swept out 25 in Sunday's game. Tochterman was sidelined by a back injury suffered in the second period of the opener.

Though the action was brisk, penalties and fights were conspicuous by their absence. Nary a penalty was called until only 4:11 remained in Saturday night's contest.

7 Penalties

Sunday's attraction produced seven penalties.

Green Bay's Sunday goals were scored by: John Maynisch (on an assist from Dick Dougherty) and Maynisch (assisted by Andy Cleorin).

Saturday night, Dougherty staked the 'Cats to a 7-0 lead at 11:24 of the first period after faking Henry out of position and whipping the puck into the right hand corner of the cage. Five minutes later, newcomer Bob Di Grio notched his first Bobcat goal on a rebound of a Maynisch shot into Henry's skates. That was the extent of the 'Cat production.

Alex Olmedo Wins Australian Crown

Whips Fraser in Finals; Buchholz Takes Junior Title

BY WILL GRIMSLEY

Adelaide, Australia — Alex Olmedo tabbed himself as the world's top tennis amateur today with a 6-1, 6-2, 3-6, 6-3 victory over Australian Neale Fraser to win the Australian national championships.

And Uncle Sam's rising tennis fortunes received a further boost when 17-year-old Earl Buchholz, the St. Louis high school student, won the junior title with a 3-6, 6-3, 6-3 victory over Aussie Martin Muligan.

Both triumphs capped one of the most successful tennis trips an American delegation has made Down Under. The Yanks also take home the coveted Davis cup, which Olmedo won almost single-handedly.

The Peruvian, from the University of Southern California, won two singles and had a share of the doubles triumph in the Davis cup.

The 22-year-old Olmedo thus became the first American since 1951 to bring home the Australian title when Dick Savitt won the championship.

Olmedo didn't waste any time with Fraser, whom he had defeated in the Pacific Southwest Championships in 1957, but to whom he had lost twice last year.

Olmedo completely outclassed his 25-year-old Australian opponent to win the opening set, 6-1. And the USC student played phenomenal, almost flawless tennis to triumph, 6-2, in the second set.

The Australian rallied in the third set to win 6-3 as his service picked up momentum. Alex then rebounded to take the final set, 6-3.

After his triumph, which gave Olmedo the first of the four major championships — the Wimbledon, French and U.S. titles are the others — the popular descendant of the Inca Indians charmed the gallery with a modest speech.

"This is my first big tournament win," he said with a clipped accent. "And I am very happy."

NBA Coaches', Referees' Feud Erupts Again

Detroit Ace George Yardley Breaks Hand

By The Associated Press
The running feud between the coaches and referees of the National Basketball association showed no signs of slackening today in the wake of another outburst before a television audience.

The latest argument was between Syracuse Nationals' pilot, Paul Seymour, and Referee Jim Duffy Sunday in Cincinnati. The Royals snapped a 2-game losing streak by defeating the Nats — 108-104 — but when it was all over Seymour had been banished.

The dispute came in the third period. Duffy called a technical foul on Syracuse veteran Dolph Schayes, who had been heckling the official all through the game.

This brought Seymour sprinting onto the floor. Duffy added another foul, and the trio stood on the court arguing. Finally the floor was cleared and Jack Twyman, who led the scorers with 33 points, made good on two free throws.

Podoloff Watches
Maurice Podoloff, NBA president, watched the game but did not take part in the argument.

In other Sunday games, the Boston Celtics edged the Detroit Pistons, 119-118, in overtime; the St. Louis Hawks clipped the New York Knicks, 115-111, and the Philadelphia Warriors downed the Minneapolis Lakers, 125-111.

It was a costly defeat for the Pistons as George Yardley, their high scoring ace, suffered a broken hand and will be lost to the team indefinitely.

The Celtics were led by Bob Cousy's 29 points in scoring their fourteenth victory in their last 17 games.

The Hawks' victory lengthened their Western division lead to 14 games. Richie Guerin popped in 41 points for the Knicks.

Paul Arizin, the NBA's No. 2 scorer netted 39 points to lead the Warriors to their victory over the Lakers. Elgin Baylor hit for 41 points for the losers.

In registering its sixth league victory Platteville pulled to a 34-31 halftime lead and then coasted in after scoring 27 points to Oshkosh's nine. Jerry Krushke led the winners with 21 points while Don Nelson collected 12 for the Titans.

Jerry Grochowski scored four points in the final 42 seconds for the UW-M triumph.

Superior held a 38-30 cushion at the halfway mark as Stout threatened throughout. Gene Evans of the Yellow-jackets and Fred Seggelink of Stout shared scoring honors with 22 points each.

OUTDOORS IN WISCONSIN Bird Records Help Solve Mysteries

BY CLARA HUSSONG

Green Bay — In their migratory flights birds are guided by the sun and other stars, studies carried on by scientists in recent years seem to prove. Caged wild birds were used in experiments to determine whether or not they need the help of the sun and stars in getting their directions.

It was found that when migration time came, these birds got restless. When the cages were put in a spot where the birds could see the sun by day, or the stars by night, the birds faced in the direction in which they would fly if they were free to migrate.

In the tests, the tops of the cages were sometimes covered, so that the birds couldn't see the sun or stars. At this they became confused, and didn't seem to know in which direction to face. The birds were placed in rooms with planetarium skies, and they reacted to this artificial sky just as they did to the real sky.

False Positions
When the artificial sky was put in a false position, that is, the North Star placed in the south instead of north, the birds assumed a false position. If it was autumn and the direction of their flight was to be to the south, the birds, under the switched sky, would face north instead.

Those who've been studying birds for years during their migratory flights have known for a long time that the kind of weather — clear or cloudy — makes a big difference in the number of birds they see. In the spring migration especially.

Toronto '6' Threatens to Leave Cellar

By The Associated Press
The month of January has meant a new era as well as a new year to the Toronto Maple Leafs.

They've been coming so fast under new boss George "Punch" Imlach, it looks as if the Leafs may lose their grip on last place in the National Hockey league.

Since the turn of the new year, the Leafs have won six games, lost three and tied one. It's the best pace in the NHL for the period — with the exception of Montreal's runaway Canadiens.

The Toronto spurt, on the other hand, has Imlach and Co. now only one point behind fifth-place Detroit, two behind fourth-place Boston and five behind Chicago and New York, tied for second.

The Leafs, beaten 3-1, by Boston Saturday night, rebounded with a 4-1 victory over the slumping Chicago Black Hawks Sunday night.

Chicago, beaten, 2-0, in the national TV game by Detroit Saturday, fell into a second place tie with New York. The Rangers walloped Boston, 8-3.

Montreal had a weekend sweep, pasting New York, 3-1, Saturday and Detroit, 7-3, Sunday night.

U. S., Russian Fives Meet Wednesday

Santiago, Chile — Favored but struggling United States and Russia—the two remaining undefeated teams—see action tonight in the world basketball championships.

The Americans, who have won their two games by a total of six points, face Nationalist China, which has lost both its games.

Russia, which scored a 66-63 victory over Brazil Saturday, goes against Bulgaria. The Bulgarians won their first game Saturday by whipping Chile, 76-71.

The U.S. team, represented by the Air Force All-Stars, has been unimpressive and Chilean newspapers are complaining.

Observed El Mercurio, largest Chilean newspaper: "This team is not up to the quality we have been accustomed to expect from a U.S. representative."

The U.S. and Russia meet Wednesday. The game is rated a tossup.

Birds must have a time sense, scientists argue, for without it the stars are little help. Perhaps it is the North star alone which guides the night flyers, some ornithologists wonder. In the fall flight then, would they take a peek over their shoulder every once in a while to see if they are still headed in a southerly direction?

There are other mysteries which haven't been cleared up in bird migration. We know now that young birds who have never made the flight before often head south in fall in a flock by themselves, either before or after the older, experienced birds' flight.

How do they know just where to go, and where to stop, so that in winter they are reunited with others of their species? They find their way back next spring to the spot where they were hatched, just as easily as their parents do.

Old Superstitions
We've come a long way from the days when all sorts of wondrous feats were attributed to birds to explain their disappearance in fall and re-appearance in spring. That birds hibernated in muddy streams or banks through the winter was one old superstition. That summer birds changed themselves into winter birds, was another — a robin becoming a blue jay, for instance.

For many years everything we couldn't understand in the action and behavior of birds and animals was laid to instinct, or hereditary traits, with no credit given to the creature's intelligence or ability to learn from experience. Some scientists believe that when we finally learn all the answers, we will find that they rest on a combination of instinct — call it what you will — and the wild creature's intellect, bird brain though it may be.

Field for Army Coaching Job Is Narrowed

Green, Dobbs and Hall Get Interviews This Week

West Point, N. Y. — The field for the Army football coaching job today apparently had narrowed to three men — all West Point graduates.

The three are Jack Green, Tulane line coach; Bobby Dobbs, head coach at Tulsa; and Dale Hall, Army defensive backfield coach.

Lt. Gen. Gar Davidson, superintendent of the academy, said the three would be interviewed this week.

He also pointed out that it would be "desirable but not imperative" that the post be filled by a West Point graduate. However, only Green, Dobbs and Hall have been mentioned by Davidson.

Earl "Red" Blaik quit as football coach and athletic director two weeks ago.

Blaik's recommendations will be taken into account.

Blaik refused to say who he favors — if anyone. However, it is known that Hall has been closest to him and is familiar with the personnel of the Army team. This will weigh in his favor.

Green and Dobbs also have served as Army assistant coaches under Blaik.

Gen. Davidson said Green will be interviewed Tuesday, Dobbs Wednesday and Hall Thursday. Blaik, presumably, will be present at the interviews.

Herb Elliott Shatters Record by 6 Seconds

Brisbane — World mile record-holder Herb Elliott failed to break four minutes Sunday at an Australian track meet, but his time of 4:02.4 seconds was six seconds better than his existing Queensland record.

Elliott finished 40 yards ahead of world 2-mile record holder Alby Thomas.

No Money for Russian Visit, Mitchell Told

State Department Likes Idea, but Not With Official Aura

Mayor Clarence A. Mitchell today received a reply from the state department on his offer to help pick a 10-member Appleton delegation for an exchange visit to Arzamas, Russia.

"The department of state," says Frederick T. Merrill, director of east-west contacts for the department, "does not have at the present time any funds available to finance the exchange of delegations between cities such as you propose."

When the exchange agreement was signed, it was noted that the United States would finance charges through private persons and organizations, Merrill reports.

Cities Propaganda
While favoring the informal exchange of visits between people from Soviet and American cities, the department, Merrill says, "is inclined to be opposed to formal or official exchanges. This is because the Soviet government has for some years been advancing proposals for official contacts, and exploiting such affiliations for internal propaganda purposes within the Soviet Union."

"If exchanges between cities were to be subsidized by the United States government, they would, of course, immediately assume a formal and official aura. Nevertheless, if you believe that federal funds should be appropriated for a program such as you are proposing, you might wish to write to members of Congress."

congress expressing this belief. Mitchell, in his letter of Jan. 12, said Prof. Edmund Zawacki, chairman of the University of Wisconsin slavic languages department and originator of the exchange proposal, had told him that Sens. Proxmire and Wiley are among senators who are co-operating and will sponsor a bill asking for the needed appropriation. Zawacki told Mitchell it would cost about $1,200 per person for the trip. While the department resists official visits, Merrill said it "nevertheless welcomes your expression of interest in the exchange program with the Soviet Union. Perhaps you will be able to arrange private financing for the visit that the city of Appleton would like to arrange."

Found Innocent of Conservation Charge

James B. Janssen, 27, 627 Lincoln street, Kaukauna, was found innocent in municipal court Friday of transporting Christmas trees without a license.

The state was unable to prove that the offense occurred in Outagamie county. He was arrested last month.

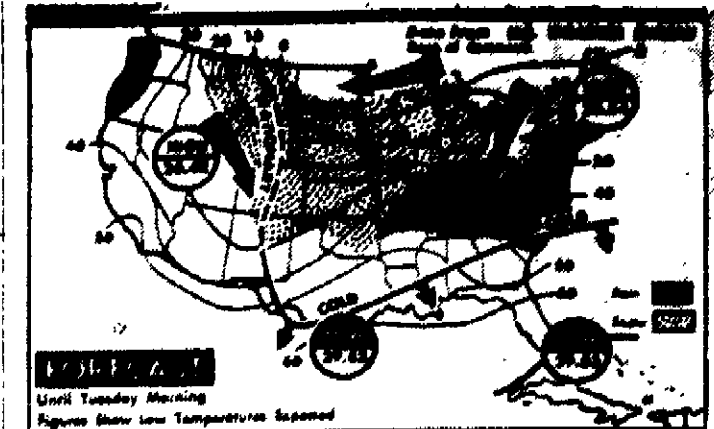

Postal Class

A course in supervisory training for postal supervisors and postmasters is being conducted at the Appleton Vocational and Adults school. The first class was held Friday and nine more classes are scheduled on successive Fridays.

C. W. Winegarner, Fond du Lac, circuit instructor of supervisory personnel training, will conduct the classes.

Snow Is Expected Tonight from southern New England westward through the Great Lakes to the middle and upper Mississippi valley while rain will fall in the lower Ohio valley, Virginia, South Carolina and the northwest Pacific coast. It will be colder in the Rockies and from the middle Mississippi valley north-east through the Ohio valley to New England.

Southern Part Of Wisconsin Hit by Snow

Snow continued today to pile up in southern Wisconsin in a reversal of the usual mid-winter weather picture.

The Milwaukee area today had more than 18 inches on the ground while northwestern sections, usually buried under more than a foot of snow this time of the year, had about 4 inches. It was still snowing in Milwaukee at mid-morning.

No snow fell overnight in the Fox Cities, where 13 1/2 inches is reported on the ground. The thermometer went down to minus four as the overnight low, but the temperature was back up to 13 by 11 a.m. today.

Cedarburg had five inches of new snow; Lake Geneva, Madison and Milwaukee reported four and La Crosse and Lone Rock one.

Slippery spots were reported on most Wisconsin highways today, except in the Eau Claire area where roads are clear. The slippery conditions were most severe in the Milwaukee, Monroe and Hayward areas.

Temperatures dropped to below-zero levels everywhere but in the southeastern corner of the state during the night. It was 18 below at Lone Rock, 17 below at Superior, 16 below at Green Bay, 15 below at Wausau, 10 below at Madison and 5 below at La Crosse. Milwaukee had a minimum of 12 above. Skies were fair today over the extreme northwestern part of the state but cloudy elsewhere.

El Centro, Calif., and Yuma, Ariz., topped the nation Sunday with 81 and 80, respectively. Minn., saw the mercury plunge to 32 below early today.

Shares Gain, Then Decline

Prices Irregular In Early Afternoon Trade on Exchange

New York — Stocks held their gains as the stock market lost an overall advance and turned irregular early this afternoon in fairly active trading.

Gains and losses of fractions to about a point were the rule among most leading issues. Steels were up. Rails were a weak spot.

Selected airlines, tobacco, drugs and chemicals were nicely ahead. Motors, chemicals and nonferrous metals were mixed.

In a delayed opening, Pfizer jumped 5 to 110. National Tea rose around 2. St. Louis-San Francisco Preferred advanced 3 to 78.

Westinghouse Electric dropped about 2 points and Zenith over 3. Richfield Oil was down about 3.

Youngstown Sheet gained about 3 points, Lukens Steel more than 2. Gains of about a point or better were posted for Detroit Steel, Jones & Laughlin, U.S. Steel, Bethlehem and Republic Steel.

Losses of more than a point were taken by Baltimore & Ohio, Southern Pacific, and Chesapeake & Ohio. New York Central held a small gain but many other carriers took fractional losses.

Gains by farm implements were paced by Caterpillar and J. I. Case, both up about a point.

Scott Paper to Spend $7 Million to Expand 3 Warehouse Facilities

Philadelphia — Scott Paper company announced it will spend approximately $7 million on expanded warehouse facilities and equipment in three cities, adding about 770,000 square feet to present floor space.

The new structures to be built in Chester, Pa.; Detroit, Mich., and Everett, Wash. were required, the company said, to handle a diversification of brands and a new sales policy of loading railroad cars with a number of different brands.

The use of color in many of its brands, addition of new products and changes in packaging, Scott said, has increased the complexity of inventories, necessitating increased warehouse space so that the company can "give prompt and efficient service to all customer requests."

An addition of 320,000 square feet will be made to the company's present 80,000 square - foot warehouse in Chester with construction expected to be completed early in 1960. New facilities of 170,000 square feet will be built in Detroit and 280,000 feet in Everett. Both are scheduled for completion late in the year, Scott said.

Many Tax Dollars Spent on Interest

BY SYLVIA PORTER

A full 10 cents of every dollar you and I and America's businessmen will pay in federal taxes in the new year will go to meet interest due during the 12 months to owners of U.S. government securities.

This is a slice of the budget second only to that taken by the catch-all "major national security." It dwarfs the seven cents of every dollar going for all veterans' services and benefits, tops the eight cents of every dollar going for all farm programs.

Of the billions we'll be pouring into the federal treasury in the year starting in mid-1959, more than $8 billion will be automatically set aside for public debt interest.

This is a total which defies comprehension. It represents a new peak in the cost of carrying the debt, compares with an annual interest load of $1 billion as recently as 1940.

$280 Billion
When World War II ended and we toted up the cost of the global conflict in dollars, we found that war borrowing had pushed the national debt close to $280 billion.

The yearly payment made by the U.S. treasury to holders of that massive amount of I.O.U.'s was only around $47 billion, though.

Today the national debt is around $282.7 billion, not much higher than at the close of World War II.

But the yearly payment by the U.S. treasury to holders of today's massive amount of I.O.U.'s is over $8 billion—an upsurge of more than 70 per cent.

It's a tale that cries out for explaining, for while there will be countless headlines about the coming congressional debates on spending for farm supports, veterans' benefits, housing, foreign aid, etc., there will be little noise about this far bigger chunk of spending.

Can Do Nothing
And the reason is that congress can't do a thing about this expense. Once the treasury has pledged to pay a specified interest rate to a buyer of its obligations, it must pay that rate for the life of the obligation. It cannot cut the interest rate while the I.O.U. is outstanding. Of course, it can't default on a note. When the president, in his budget message, estimated $81 billion for debt interest alone in the 1959-60 fiscal year, he wasn't exaggerating one bit.

What has been happening? A key point about what has been happening is that it has not been an accidental swelling in spending. Rather, it has been the result of deliberate policies adopted at the highest policy-making levels in Washington.

First, the federal reserve system has been encouraging rising interest rates across the board through most of this decade. In simplest words, the theory has been: "Higher costs of borrowing money will restrict speculative activities by curbing marginal borrowing, and this will help restrain price rises. When business is swinging upward, the costs of borrowing money should properly go up, too. Only when business is declining should we expect lower borrowing costs."

Haven't Fought
Second, under President Eisenhower, the heads of the treasury have not fought the higher borrowing costs—as did the treasury chiefs under President Roosevelt and President Truman. In simplest words, the position of the treasury in this era has been: "The treasury should not get special protection against a general rise in borrowing costs. The treasury is just another borrower competing for available funds, and it should compete as others do—meaning the treasury must pay the price (the interest rate) demanded by lenders for cash."

The result of these policies has been that as the treasury has borrowed new cash in recent years and replaced maturing I.O.U.'s with new ones, it has paid higher and higher rates.

In World War II the going interest rate on long-term U.S. bonds was 2 1/2 per cent a year—and the treasury borrowed billions from us at that level.

Today the going rate on long-term U.S. bonds is over 4 per cent a year—and the treasury can't get much cash even at that rate.

Sure, the United States can afford today's debt and interest load—but that doesn't make $8 billion a year in interest alone any less staggering. What's more, the top of the debt or the interest cost is not yet in sight.

Uneven Colors

Purdue university furnishings specialists say that uneven colors in a room are attractive. But, mix the colors to avoid the half and half look.

The Last of Twenty 35-Foot timber pilings have been driven for the east abutment of the College-Candee high level bridge. The view of the work in progress looks north from a hilltop toward Interlake mill, seen partially in background. Worker shown in insert is placing pile-driver hammer on target high up on a piling.

Londoners Suspect United States Of 'Two Power Deal' With Soviets

BY WALTER LIPPMANN

Anthony Nutting, writing from London on Mikoyan's visit, has succeeded in demonstrating how hard it is for even the friendliest nations to understand one another. Nutting reports that it is being "seriously debated" in London whether Lippmann the United States is moving towards "a two-power deal" with the Soviet Union.

After a long report on how much our motives are suspected in Europe, he proceeds to lecture us on what we must do to make our European friends feel better about us. What we must do, according to Nutting, is precisely what in fact we have been doing day by day, namely, to make "a full and reassuring report" to all our NATO partners, and to discuss and agree with them "on future policies and procedures." A failure to do these things which we are doing, says Nutting quite solemnly, "would be playing Russia's game beyond the point of safety."

If this is the kind of uninformed suspicion which exists in London it is enough to make anyone despair of the effectiveness of a free press. Here are two allies, both speaking the same language, both enjoying free institutions, both able to print and to read whatever they choose, both committed to the same international ideals, and yet a writer with connections in official quarters in London suspects us of being so foolish and so disloyal that we are contemplating a two-power deal at the expense of Europe.

Mistrusted in Moscow
For my part, I do not expect us to be understood or trusted in Moscow. But we have, I submit, earned the right to be trusted by our closest allies. We do not betray our friends, and the suspicion that we are so gullible that Mikoyan can "sell" us into betraying our friends is an affront to the honor of America and an insult to its intelligence.

The public part of Mikoyan's visit seems to be to show that between the Communist world and ours there can be the great issues be little free and open communication. We live in very different worlds. We see things with very different eyes. We judge them with very different minds.

The best we can do is to negotiate cautiously more or less at arm's length. But the kind of understanding needed for political cooperation is a very long way off. It is, therefore, absurd to invite Mikoyan to subject himself to a public exhibition like "Meet the Press" and it is absurd for Mikoyan to accept the invitation to do that. The show on Sunday was as useful as an attempt to mate a whale which lives in the sea with an elephant which lives on the land.

Specialized Communication
Those who have studied carefully the problem of communication between the Soviet Union and the West know that the communication cannot be general but must be specialized. The mathematical cians and the physical scientists can communicate with one another. So can the engineers or the agriculturists. So can artists. So can experienced and sophisticated statesmen. So can ordinary tourists meeting ordinary people. But Mikoyan cannot talk to the American people in the mass nor could Vice President Nixon talk, even if he had the freedom of the Soviet radio, to the Russian people in the mass.

As to the results of Mikoyan's tour, they cannot be measured by the crowds and the headlines, by the curiosity of the people who saw him or by their courtesy. The results of the visit will be tested as we see whether or not we are moving towards negotiations on the whole German question. For surely that was the real objective of Mikoyan's visit, as it is the objective of the Soviet gambit in Berlin. His purpose cannot have been to enter a popularity contest, for which he is as little qualified as he would be for a beauty contest. If the purpose of his visit was to open up the German question, he is not going home empty-handed. For the president and Dulles have shown that they hope to make the German question negotiable if Moscow is seriously interested in negotiating.
